SHARP DROP IN TRADING CONTINUES

By SHEP CAMPBELL
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market stumbled lower early this afternoon as turnover quickened. Continued liquidation shaved fractions to around a point off the prices of leading issues. A few stocks took even bigger spills.

Losses filtered through all sections of the list. Steels, motors, aircrafts, electronics, metals, chemicals, rails and oils generally retreated.

The slump lengthened the losses of Tuesday when late selling knocked the market for a sharp drop.

Prices moved steadily lower in early trading. After a feeble mid-morning rally petered out, the market resumed its decline.

Steels weakened as no sign of a break in the industry strike deadlock appeared. U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel each fell around a point.

Leading motor shares slumped nearly a point.

Anacosta and Kennecott slipped around 1.

Some space age issues took steep losses. Texas Instruments sagged about 3, Zenith around 1 1/2 and General Tire more than 1.

Chemicals continued to recede. DuPont dropped more than 3, American Cyanamid more than 1 and both Allied Chemical and Union Carbide about 1.

Seaboard Airline Railroad led the decline in rails with a loss of about 1 1/2. Southern Railway and Southern Pacific fell around 1.

Losses of a point or better were posted by Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Texaco, Liggett & Myers, Johns Manville and U.S. Gypsum.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was $1.70 lower at $27.20 with the industrials down 3 1/2, the rails off 1.30 and the utilities down 20 cents.

Fate of Sales Tax Program Is in Doubt as Senators Push for Roll Call Vote

BULLETIN
HARRISBURG, (AP)—The Senate today defeated the 4 per cent sales tax plan.

The vote was 18-30.

Two Democrats, who voted for the bill, changed their votes to no in a parliamentary maneuver indicating that a new effort will be made to pass the measure.

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—The fate of the 4 per cent sales tax was in doubt in the Senate today.

The avowed opposition of three Democratic senators, coupled with a Republican attitude that no more than four GOP votes would be provided for the 14 1/2 million-dollar measure, threatened its defeat.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, said he would nevertheless push for a final roll call during the day to put the 28 Republicans and 22 Democrats on the record one way or the other on the expanded levy.

Following the Republican caucus Berger said there had been no change in the majority's four-vote stand.

He named the Republicans who would vote for the measure as Sens. M. Harvey Taylor, president pro tempore; Edward J. Kessler, chairman of the finance committee; Irving J. Whalley, Somerset County, and John van Sant, Lehigh County.

The decks were cleared for the showdown after the Senate Tuesday night defeated, 11-35, a Democratic move to rip out the 4 per cent sales tax proposal and substitute for it a 2 per cent across-the-board sales levy.

The only exemptions under the clobered amendments, would have been on take-home food, clothing and purchases by hospitals, religious and charitable organizations.

Republicans voted solidly against the 2 per cent amendments. Democrats divided on them when Sen. Joseph M. Barr (D-Allegheny) expressed the opposition of the Law Enforcement Administration.

Barr said the 2 per cent tax would have yielded only 490 million in the next two years. A 4 per cent levy would bring in more than 700 million, including the additional 14 1/2 million that increasing the rate from 3 1/2 per cent and other changes would yield.

Lane called the 4 per cent sales tax plan "a punitive piece of legislation," adding:

U. S. Capitalists Displayed by Reds

MOSCOW, (AP)—Three real, live capitalists went on display at the American exposition today.

Introduced to crowds of Russian visitors were Lynn L. Bollinger of Norwood, Mass., and E. M. Black and Richard Karasik of New York.

Bollinger spent two sessions of 20 minutes each in the aluminum-domed main building answering questions from Russians about how he treats his 180 workers in the Helio Aircraft Corp.

The questions were put in friendly humor and Bollinger's responses were in the same vein.

Facts on Steel Strike Will Be Released Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A collection of facts about the steel strike will be released by the government tonight in the hope of budging the deadlocked negotiations.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said he would make public statistics his staff has gathered about wages, profits, productivity, prices and related aspects of the industry.

Mitchell, who announced his decision to release the report after conferring for 45 minutes with President Eisenhower, said he hoped the information would cause both sides to "bargain a little harder and reach a settlement."

But in New York, chief federal mediator Joseph P. Finnegan said Mitchell's announcement had no effect whatsoever on negotiations Tuesday.

"I must say the picture at present is distinctly gloom," Finnegan added.

The strike has lasted 36 days. Half a million steel workers are out and 150,000 in related industries have been laid off.

Graphic Eyewitness Account By Survivor of Earthquake

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—"It was horrible," an earthquake survivor said today.

"The children were screaming for help, crying for their mothers," recalled Mrs. Clarence Scott of Fresno, Calif., who came out of the heavily hit Rock Creek area.

"Husbands begged their wives to answer."

"Someone was screaming for help from anyone who could swim."

"I looked where there had been trailers and tents. They were gone."

Mrs. Scott was in her trailer when the quake rocked the popular vacation area late Monday night.

"There was a huge noise. It sounded like a thousand winds going through the trees but not

Boston Police Break Up Race Gang War

BOSTON, (AP)—About 30 policemen with drawn guns broke up a threatened street gang war battle Tuesday night with whites on one side and Negroes on the other. Police said the youths were armed with clubs and knives. Sgt. John Pastore of the Roxbury division, where the outbreak took place, said the near-rumble was the outcome of continuing hostilities.

Little Chance for Action on Civil Rights Legislation

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—House backers of legislation to broaden the civil rights laws were conceding today their hopes of action this year have almost vanished. They were blaming an unplanned combination of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Southern Democrats.

Khrushchev's contribution was to build up overwhelming sentiment for Congress to adjourn early in September—merely by scheduling his visit to this country for Sept. 15.

The Southerners as usual are fighting civil rights action with delaying tactics.

If Congress speeds up its adjournment, there will almost certainly not be time for the civil rights forces to maneuver their way around the Southern roadblocks.

And there is a growing expectation that Congress—without making the action too obvious—will adjourn long enough in advance of Khrushchev's arrival to make sure the legislators won't be faced with the embarrassment of a possible appearance of the Soviet chief at a joint session.

The chances for enactment of a new civil rights bill at this session seemed today to rest on a possible change of mind by the Southerners.

Arizona Campers Have Thrilling Experience

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—A quake-shattered mountain cast its top within 50 feet of an Arizona family of campers.

The mother, Mrs. Henry Bennett, 35, of Cottonwood, is recovering today from shock. Her husband, her son Royal, 10, and daughter Janet escaped injury.

The Bennetts were camped in Rocky Creek Park when the quake hit about midnight Monday.

Mrs. Bennett and her children dragged Bennett, an invalid, in a sleeping bag up a mountainside to safety.

Half an hour later the Bennett's car and trailer were under water.

The Bennett family was evacuated by helicopter.

Damaged Carrier in Port With Victims

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP)—The aircraft carrier USS Wasp— a hangar compartment blackened by an explosion—brought two dead and some 20 injured crewmen into port here today.

The big ship was participating in antisubmarine maneuvers about 250 miles off the Virginia coast Tuesday afternoon when she was shaken by an explosion.

The blast occurred when a helicopter engine "oversped" during a routine test in the hangar area just below the carrier's flight deck.

MOVIE STAR INJURED

Chandlers Valley Has Barn Fire

Firemen from three departments play streams of water into the ruins of a large barn which was destroyed by fire early this morning. Freshly-cut oats and straw went up in smoke in the barn, owned by Andrew C. Tutmaher of Chandlers Valley. ## Claim Prowler Went To Sleep on Job

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (AP)—Wayne Smith, 25, must show up in Municipal Court today because he was caught sleeping on the job.

John Riechert said he came home to his second floor apartment Tuesday and found Smith sleeping on his bed.

Police said Smith told them he had climbed a fire escape and entered the apartment to rob it; but lay down on the bed to rest and fell asleep.

Smith, a die maker, was charged with breaking and entry.

Two Firemen Die In Explosion of Big Gasoline Tank

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A 20,000-gallon gasoline tank exploded and hurtled forward like a giant flame-thrower, engulfing firemen in a blast of fire.

That's how Tuesday's gasoline bulk station holocaust took its toll.

Two firemen died. They were Virgil L. Sams, 28, and Neal K. Owen, 28. Seventeen others, four of them in critical condition, remained in hospitals today.

More than 100 persons suffered burns, other injuries and exhaustion. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

A Continental Oil Co. bulk station of four big horizontal tanks, located behind a filling station at the state line between the two Kansas Cities, was the scene.

The blaze erupted while two men were filling a tank truck. The cause wasn't known.

Javits Convinced Rockefeller Has Not Made Up Mind

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—A lot of people may be skeptical, but Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) says he's convinced Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller hasn't made up his mind about 1960.

Javits said Rockefeller's flying trip to Washington Tuesday was a mere scratch-the-surface affair without too much political significance.

In the course of the day, Rockefeller talked with President Eisenhower and other government officials on civil defense matters, and met with GOP office holders both in Congress and in the administration.

Some supporters of Vice President Richard M. Nixon thought the interest Rockefeller showed in primaries confirmed their belief that he already is a candidate—though unannounced—for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon wants.

Posthumous Honor for Oil Pioneer Drake

HARRISBURG (AP)—Oil pioneer Edwin L. Drake will probably get his commission as colonel after all.

The House Military Affairs Committee Tuesday approved a bill giving Drake a posthumous commission in the Pennsylvania National Guard. Drake, who during his lifetime was often called "Colonel," died years ago. The Senate already has approved the measure.

The industry this year is observing the 100th anniversary of its first oil well, drilled by Drake near Titusville.

Caribbean Peace Conference Fails In Its Objective

By THOMAS J. STONE
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Most of the foreign ministers of the Americas hope one of their major actions at their conference here will be to bring peace to the Caribbean into behaving themselves.

The majority of the 21 ministers made it plain before they ended their Caribbean peace conference here Tuesday that they don't like what's going on in that sea of trouble south of the United States.

They left banking heavily on public opinion to bring moral pressure on people who disturb the peace in the Caribbean and elsewhere—at least until more permanent measures to be arranged at the regular Inter-American conference scheduled in Quito next February.

The Santiago conference did not single out any culprits or slap any specific wrists, even though the

Senate Gives Thumping Vote to Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A thumping 71-24 Senate vote for a new $1,050,000,000 housing bill gave its sponsors encouragement today that the legislation finally would become law.

Both the final passage tally and the 68-27 margin by which the Senate refused to send the measure back to its Banking Committee were well beyond the two-thirds needed to beat another housing veto.

Indications were, however, that final congressional action on the bill would not come promptly.

200 Witness Stabbing Brawl in Coffee Stall

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A 20-year-old youth was fatally stabbed Tuesday night in a Latin American brawl witnessed by 200 persons.

Police said the melee outside a Cuban coffee-stall did not appear to stem from Cuban politics. They said Jose Gavila and another youth, who had shaved their heads, apparently got into an argument with several unidentified youths over their appearance. Gavila was stabbed by an unknown knife-wielder.

Board at Little Rock Abandons Neutrality Stand

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock Board of Directors Tuesday aligned itself against the segregationist position after almost two years of unyielding neutrality in the integration struggle here.

The board said it could find no basis for segregationists charges that police used brutality and violated a constitutional right of peaceful assembly when they squelched an anti-integration demonstration Wednesday at Central High School.

The seven-member board said it felt officers acted legally to maintain order and protect life and property. It referred complaints filed by two women segregationists to the U.S. Justice Department as the proper authority to probe alleged violations of civil rights.

Previously, the board had refused to involve itself in any manner with the integration issue. But it drew segregationist criticism for ordering police to maintain order when schools opened.

RESCUERS SEARCHING FOR VACATIONERS TRAPPED BY MASS OF ROCK AND EARTH

By TOM MADDOX

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP)—Eight persons were known dead today from a wide-ranging Western earthquake which dealt its most devastating blows in a southwest Montana vacation area.

Officials feared the toll would rise to 13.

Earth slides just west of Yellowstone National Park roared down after the quake, trapping the victims and terrifying other vacationers with a thunder of rocks, earth and trees.

Four of the known dead were from one family. They were F. R. Bennett, 45, of Couer D'Alene, Idaho; his two daughters, Carole, 17, and Susan, 5, and a son, Tom, 11. Bennett's wife and another son were injured.

The death toll could rise. Survivors reported seeing a couple and a crippled boy swept away in their car by an avalanche. At another location, parts of an automobile registered to Thomas Stowe, 31, of Sandy, Utah, were found. Stowe and his wife were reported missing.

Approximately 60 persons were injured, but only 27 remained in hospitals in four Montana towns. Six were reported in critical condition.

Most of the victims were campers enjoying outdoor vacations in the rugged wilds of southwestern Montana, less than 20 miles west of Yellowstone Park.

The quake first struck near midnight Monday at Hebgen Dam and farther downstream in the Madison River valley, famous trout fishing country.

There were an estimated 22,000 to 25,000 vacationers in Yellowstone Park when the quakes hit, but no one was reported hurt there. Earth slides closed some roads in the western side of the park.

Additional light tremors north of Hebgen Dam were felt Tuesday night, but caused no damage.

None of the famous scenic wonders of the huge summer playground was damaged. Old Faithful geyser, about 40 miles southeast of Hebgen Dam, continued to throw its fountain of boiling water skyward on the hour.

Although southwestern Montana got the quakes' most devastating blows, tremors were reported in British Columbia, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and both Dakotas.

The quake victims were camped

Martha Raye Tires Of Sixth Husband

NEW YORK, (AP)—Comedienne Martha Raye and her sixth husband, former policeman Robert O'Shea, have parted after nine months of marriage, the New York Post said today.

It quoted Miss Raye's manager, Nick Condo's, one of her former husbands, as saying: "It's all over between them. They have separated with the intention of divorcing."

Miss Raye met O'Shea while he was a traffic cop in West Port, Conn., and later hired him as a bodyguard. O'Shea's wife sued him for divorce, and Miss Raye for alienation of his affections.

Hundreds Watch As Woman Drops To Death at Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—A woman crawled to the brink of Niagara Falls late Tuesday night and dropped over head first as 200 honeymooners and tourists watched in horror.

Minutes later, a policeman lowered himself from Prospect Point with ropes. He said her body, was on a ledge about 30 feet below the brink.

The pounding waters washed her to the bottom of the 167-foot American falls before rescuers with special equipment could reach her.

She was identified from papers in a purse lost on Prospect Point as Helen Gorski, 49, of Buffalo.

House Passes Bill To Hike State Gasoline Tax a Cent

By FRED B. WALTERS
HARRISBURG (AP)—Four Republicans have helped the Democratic-dominated House pass a measure that would increase the state gasoline tax from five to six cents a gallon.

It now goes to the Senate where Sen. James S. Berger, Republican Floor leader, has predicted it will be defeated.

The measure just passed in the House Tuesday with only two votes to spare. The vote was 108-87.

The extra penny tax is expected to bring $62 million dollars in the 1959-60 biennial for Highways Secretary Park H. Martin's road-building plans.

Pittsburgh May Entertain Khrush

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev probably will visit Pittsburgh during his tour of the United States next month, according to the latest word from Washington sources.

Khrushchev is slated to arrive in the United States Sept. 15 and stay about 12 days. Other likely stopping places besides Pittsburgh are Washington, New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Des Moines, Iowa.

Geologist Tells About Earthquake

DENVER (AP)—What caused the wrenching, mountain-splitting southwestern Montana earthquake?

W. B. Myers, geologist for the U. S. Geological Survey, said it apparently was a major movement along a large rock fault just west of the Madison River valley.

A fault is a huge crack in the earth's rock crust extending underground to unknown depths.

Some are visible along mountain slopes.

Of the fault which sent the earth into quivers Monday night, Myers said:

"It's a steep fault in very old rocks, and yet I know of no previous quake—causing movement along it in historic times."

"We do not know enough about the deep underground geology of the area to say definitely but it may well lie on United States."

"It is not considered likely that this quake will trigger one of the major faults of the other quakes in the same area. Usually a movement like this relieves pressure, acting as a safety valve to put things in a more stable condition."

Stone Altar Is Erected at Site Of Pithole Church

Titusville Herald; Methodist men of the Pleasantville, Titusville and Bethel churches have completed the erection of a simple stone altar on the site of the first Methodist Church of Pithole City.

The altar, which has been constructed from stones taken from the original foundations of the church, will be formally dedicated at a special service at 3:15 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 23, by Lloyd C. Wicke, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh Area of the Methodist church.

Superintendents of the four districts of the Erie Annual Conference have been invited to participate as has the president of Allegheny College, the Erie Conference lay leader and the president of the Erie Conference Historical Society.

Several descendants of Rev. Darius S. Steadman, pastor of the Pithole congregation at the time of the church's erection during the oil boom days, are expected to be present. A member of the family will unveil the bronze plaque which will be affixed to the altar.

Efforts are being made to locate descendants of other pastors appointed to the Pithole Church—Rev. R. W. Hardins, Rev. S. T. Requa, Rev. James Shields, Rev. Thomas Graham and Rev. L. F. Merritt.

A historical display will mark the occasion with many items relating to the church and Rev. Steadman being on exhibit. Any persons having items which they may be willing to loan for such an exhibit were asked to contact Rev. W. George Thornton of the Titusville First Methodist church.

Methodist Men of the Erie Conference are sponsoring the project in whose behalf Roy Bailey of Pleasantville is currently accepting contributions for the project.

Sudden Blackout In Manhattan Has Surprising Result

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan's sudden blackout had one surprising and significant effect—it created a spirit of co-operation missing in the garish, neon-lit streets of the city at night.

This fact stood out above all others today as officials asked themselves why the sprawling, pitch-black section did not become a jungle of panic and violence.

What caused the breakdown that left 500 blocks and a half million people without power for 13 hours was not completely clear.

Peak loads caused by sweltering weather and the increased use of cooling devices, burned out the cables. That was the power company's first explanation. An official of the company—Consolidated Edison—said later, however, that a dozen other things, such as rats gnawing on the cables, might have been involved.

City and state agencies began investigations to determine the exact cause and take measures against any recurrence.

But one thing was clear. From the millionaires on the fashionable East Side to the fashion dwellers on the upper West Side, the people in the stricken area refused to panic.

The area was saturated with police and detectives, but no disorders were reported.

Northern Area Board Issues Communication on Opening

Parents of students within the Northern Area Joint School System will find a number of important announcements in a communication issued today by the administrative staff.

Students will report to their respective buildings September 2 for a full day of classes. Regular lunch schedules will be followed and pupils may buy their lunches or bring one from home. Classes will be from 8:35 a. m. until 3:10 p. m. in Eisenhower High School; Lander, Russell and Sugar Grove Elementary Schools will operate on schedules compensating for differences in bus mileage between these schools and the high school.

All children now six years old or attaining their sixth birthday before February 1, 1960 may enter school September 2. Those who have not already taken their pre-school examinations, and received notification, may be examined at the beginning of the new term by making advance arrangements with the principal.

Beginning students, as well as those moving into the area and attending the system's schools for the first time, should present vaccination certificates. In the event he has not had a pre-school test in Northern Area, he should also present a birth certificate. This same rule applies to those who did not present a birth certificate when pre-school tests were given. An advanced student, above grade one, should bring his report card from the last school attended.

Teaching staff and office personnel will be on duty in each grade building throughout September 1, and it is suggested parents of pupils having problems concerning make-up testing, pre-school tests, or transfer procedure visit the school that day.

Parents are also advised pro-feessional employees will be attending Warren County Institute August 31 and will not be available for consultation.

Regular office hours are presently in effect at the high school, and students entering the system, or already enrolled and having problems, should visit the office between 9:00 a. m. and 12:00 noon, or 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. during the week of August 24-28.

Those in summer school or being tutored are personally responsible for presenting evidence of such work during that week, also, in order that adjustment of schedules may be made.

Another point emphasized is that students in attendance during the last portion of the 1958-59 academic year in any Northern Area School, and left in good standing, is already fully enrolled in the proper school and grade for the coming year. This includes those in grade seven who were given a diploma from Northern Area last June.

Details of the school calendar, personnel changes, and transportation will be reported in a later issue.

Many Dignitaries Are Invited to Oil Centennial

Oil Centennial Inc., has mailed 1,500 invitations to prominent oil men all over the United States and in some foreign countries to attend the Oil Centennial in Titusville.

The corporation in charge of Centennial arrangements also sent invitations to the governors of the U.S.'s 33 oil-producing states to come to "the birthplace of the oil industry" for Centennial Week—Aug. 23 through 29.

J. Paul Jones of Bradford, chairman of the board, signed the invitations. Mr. Jones is president of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association.

Special invitations also have been prepared for the two granddaughters of Edwin L. Drake, driller of the world's first oil well at Titusville 100 years ago.

The granddaughters, Mrs. Marie Drake Carver of Fortune Rock, Maine, and Mrs. Grace Drake Klich of East Haven, Conn., are being invited to Titusville as guests of Oil Centennial for the entire week.

In their invitations, they have been informed that Miss Genevieve Blatt, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Internal Affairs, will present them with copies of the bill making their grandfather a colonel in the Pennsylvania National Guard. This presentation will be made on Thursday, Aug. 27—the 100th anniversary of the Drake well's striking oil. Drake had been called "Colonel," but the title had no authentic origin.

Other invitations are being extended to area representatives and senators in the State Legislature and in Congress.

He also contended her constitutional rights were violated when she testified at Finch's preliminary hearing without being warned her statements could be used against her.

ABOVEGROUND DOUBLE-WALL SHELTER

For Family Protection From Radioactive Fallout

AN OUTDOOR aboveground fallout shelter may be built of concrete blocks. It is recommended for houses without basements or for regions where water or rock is close to the surface, making it impractical to build an underground shelter. Two walls of concrete blocks are constructed at least 20 inches apart. The space between is filled with gravel or earth. The walls are held together with metal ties placed in wet mortar as the walls are built. The roof is a six-inch slab of reinforced concrete, covered with at least 20 inches of gravel or earth. Most people would have to hire a contractor to build this shelter. Plans appear in the OGDH 32-page booklet, "The Family Fallout Shelter." For free copies write: Box Home Shelter, OGDH, Battle Creek, Mich.

HOW TO SURVIVE—IF NUCLEAR WAR COMES

Substantial protection for families from radioactive fallout can now be developed through construction of simple home shelters. All of the illustrations used on this page are from "The Family Fallout Shelter," a publication of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. Free copies of the booklet may be obtained by writing: Box Home Shelter, Battle Creek, Mich.

fish than the people can catch? The map is literally alive with lakes.

We think this "IFYE" program is really a wonderful way to bring about world understanding. It works on a grass roots, people to people basis, and is dedicated to the belief that understanding people is the foundation of world peace.

IFYE is designed to help delegates and exchanges learn about another way of life by living it. "Learning by doing" is the sound educational principle behind this live and work experience. I'm sure that we will learn as much from Arto as he learns from us during his six weeks stay.

You may be interested to know how this particular exchange program got started. Just after World War II a frequent topic of conversation at rural youth organization meetings was "What can we do to make sure it doesn't happen again?" They decided that if young men and women from farms in the United States could live and work on farms in our countries, and if their and they have a herd of 30 Ayrshire dairy cows. They also raise hogs on a large scale. In Finland even in the large dairy herds women do the milking and care for the livestock. This sounds like a good idea, doesn't it?

Thursday evening Arto stayed in our home and we learned so many things about Finland and its people. He has an album of beautiful folk music along with slides and a movie about his homeland. In case you have forgotten, or, like me, never knew, Finland is on the same parallel as Alaska, but has a more moderate climate because of the warm gulf stream flowing by.

If ever the gulf stream changes its direction there will be very little Agriculture in the Scandinavian countries. Did you know Finland has thousands and thousands of fresh water lakes which provide more

Around the Area With The County Agent!

By Bernie Wingert, Warren County Agricultural Agent

Several weeks ago I wrote in this column about an exchange student coming to visit with us in Warren County. If you recall all we knew at that time was that a young man from Finland, named Arto Heikkila, would be arriving as an "IFYE" (International Farm Youth Exchange Student).

Well, Arto has arrived. He came back with the nineteen H boys and girls who participated in 4-H Club Week activities at Penn State University last week, and he's living with his first host family, the Bob Scotts near Lottsville. Here is Arto's American home for the next three weeks. Then he will move over to the western county line and live with Roy Swart's for the remainder of his stay in the county.

Arto is a big man in any country. He's 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 215 pounds, with a shock of wavy blonde hair. He's 24 years old and is studying Agricultural Economics at his University in Finland.

He's no stranger to mechanized farming for he comes from southwestern Finland. His home place has 325 tillable acres, plus about 400 more in managed forest land. They raise hay, oats, wheat, barley, and rape,

Hoegh Says Every Family Needs A Fallout Shelter

Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Leo A. Hoegh says "everyone, even those far from a likely target, would need shelter from fallout" in the event of an enemy attack.

LEO A. HOEGH
... most could be saved

In the introduction to "The Family Fallout Shelter," a publication of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Mr. Hoegh says: "In an atomic war, blast, heat and initial radiation could kill millions close to ground zero of nuclear bursts. Many more millions—everybody else—could be threatened by radioactive fallout. But most of these could be saved."

Mr. Hoegh pointed out that the Federal shelter policy is based on the knowledge that most of those beyond the range of blast and heat will survive if they have adequate protection from fallout.

The OGDH booklet contains building plans for five basic fallout shelters. One is a do-it-yourself project with solid concrete blocks. Cost of the shelters ranges from $150 to $1500.

Copies of "The Family Fallout Shelter" may be obtained from local civil defense offices or by writing: Box Home Shelter, Battle Creek, Mich.

Flagpoles Will Be Put Up on Fairless Hills

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two new flagpoles will soon be erected in Fairless Hills, Pa., and they will be landmarks to the success of State Supreme Court Justice Michael Musmanno.

The justice, a staunch member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, heard of a Fairless Hills ban on flagpoles, tv aerials and radio antennae. He went out to the Hills and put up an American flag anyway.

Then, he met Tuesday in Pittsburgh with Benjamin Fairless, former chairman of United States Steel Corp., and the man for whom Fairless Hills was named. Fairless did not know about the flagpole ban.

Fairless announced that new flagpoles would go up right away and that he personally would attend ceremonies dedicating them. No mention was made how Fairless and officials of the Fairless Hills development would get around the ban on the flagpoles.

Deaf Mutes Have Difficult Time Rescuing Baby

CLEVELAND (AP) — James Pfaff didn't know there was a 3-year-old boy in the bedroom the first time he went into the burning house.

All he knew was that a frantic couple—both deaf-mutes—needed help. They had led him to the bedroom window and pointed.

Pfaff, 31, and his wife Susan, were driving past when they saw John Biven and his wife gesticulating outside the house in suburban Olmsted Falls Sunday.

Pfaff went in through the window but was driven back by smoke. By then his wife had gotten one word from Mrs. Biven. The deaf-mute, who had learned to produce sounds approximating words, was near hysteria, but Mrs. Pfaff understood one word, "crib."

"There must be a baby in a crib," she told her husband. Pfaff went back in. Finally he found Scott Biven huddled unconscious in a corner of the crib, found the window again and, half falling, half leaping, brought the boy out.

The father, who was badly burned getting out of the house, explained by sign language he had thought his wife was bringing Scott out. His wife had thought he was bringing the child.

Scott and his father were admitted at Southwest Community Hospital. The boy, who can see, hear and speak, was treated for smoke inhalation.

SOLVING PARKING PROBLEM
Ribbon-cutting ceremonies Tuesday morning officially acclaimed the opening of two new parking facilities in the downtown business section marked the culmination of a long campaign on the part of a group of determined and enthusiastic citizens to find a solution to one of the borough's most perplexing problems.

Residents of the entire area will benefit through the progressiveness of the men who have made the large parking areas available, one on the Island just off lower Liberty street, and the other in the west side of Market street, just north of Pennsylvania avenue, west.

During the ceremony Tuesday, Don Conaway, Sr., president of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce reminded that the community now boasts four Municipal parking lots with a total of 256 spaces—behind the Borough building, Hickory and Third; the YMCA Lot, Liberty street, just north of Third; the Island and Market street lots.

Of more importance is the fact that Mr. Conaway says expansion of these facilities will be expanded as the demand justifies.

Our congratulations to all concerned, including the 128 contributors to the Chamber's "Parking Campaign!"

WORLD TODAY
By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the time—a few months before the 1960 election year—when would-be presidents try to make running look like just walking fast.

So it is no wonder New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller didn't actually say he needed more leg room when he climbed out of a political box this week.

On Aug. 3 the governor, a John-ny-come-lately to politics, reportedly told friends that by Nov. 1 he would make up his mind about trying for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960 on the basis of what public opinion polls were saying then.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a political pro who has been warming up much longer than Rockefeller for the dash across the White House lawn, would never have let himself get into a box like that for a couple of reasons:

1. Time and events change public opinion. What the polls show Nov. 1 may be the opposite of the pollsters' findings six months later.

2. Polls may be wrong, as President Truman demonstrated in 1948 when the polls showed New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey a shoo-in but the disbelieving Truman ruined Dewey's presidential ambitions forever.

Even if the polls showed new-comer Rockefeller more popular, Nixon, the old pro, could still hope his deep and wide connections with Republican party politicians might get him the nomination anyway.

So it was no wonder, either, that on Aug. 14 he said polls wouldn't influence his decision about seeking the nomination. He said: "In one respect I'm like Harry Truman. I believe the only poll that counts is on election day."

Then, also, Rockefeller last week had dinner with Dewey, twice a presidential bridesmaid but never a bride, who was one of the prime forces in helping President Eisenhower get the Republican nomination nomination in 1952.

No one ever accused Dewey of being a dumb political bunny although the way he campaigned against Truman wasn't very bright. He acted then like a man who didn't think he had to try because the polls said he was away out in front anyway.

Whether or not Dewey told Rockefeller about the political birds and bees — and how they may nest on poles but not on polls — the New York governor climbed out of the box those Aug. 3 reports put him in.

On Aug. 17 he told reporters in Albany he had never set a Nov. 1 deadline for deciding on running; and besides, public opinion polls would not be a controlling factor in his decision on running.

He put it this way: "My own decisions are going to be made on a positive basis in terms of the opportunity of service which I feel I might be able to render."

A pro reading that statement might translate it this way: "I'm not sticking my neck out by saying I will or I won't; I'll just wait to see how my chances look."

And Tuesday Rockefeller, for a man who hasn't yet said yes or no, showed considerable interest in the 1960 New Hampshire Republican presidential primary, which gives an indication of what Republican voters think of candidates.

He discussed it with Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), a Nixon supporter.

It was in the same state's primary in 1952 that Dwight Eisenhower, a newcomer to politics, drubbed Robert A. Taft, the veteran Ohio senator who, like Nixon, was a political pro and had been exercising his leg muscles for the White House sprint a long time.

Here and There
We are in receipt of an invitation to attend what the Ford Motor Company describes as an unprecedented journalistic technique—a nationwide news conference via two-way closed-circuit television—in introducing its new economy car, the Falcon, on September 2. Henry Ford II, company president, has invited some 2,000 press, radio and TV representatives to attend simultaneous telecasts in 21 cities across the country to view the new car, receive background information on why Ford is entering the economy car field, and discuss the impact which the Falcon and its competitors may have on the U. S. economy. The use of a two-way audio-visual system will enable newsmen to ask direct questions of Ford officials assembled in Dearborn, Mich. It will mark the first such use of closed-circuit television, and in terms of number of participants may be the largest news conference ever held. The telecast will originate from Ford's central office building in Dearborn. It will include remarks by Mr. Ford and Ernest R. Breech, chairman of the board, a background presentation on development of the Falcon, and pictures of the car in both black and white and color. Newsmen in the various cities on the circuit then will be invited to ask questions about the new car. The program will be produced by TNT — Theatre Network Television, Inc. In addition to being the first news conference of its kind, TNT officials said, it will mark the first use of both video tape and live television in a single closed-circuit business telecast. The two-hour telecast will start at 1:30 p. m. E. S. T. and will be seen in Atlanta, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Houston, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Miami, Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle and Washington, D. C.

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★
How Should We Nominate Presidential Candidates?
BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's decision to let public opinion polls determine whether he should be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960 has aroused some adverse comment here.

The argument against it is that this method would be undemocratic. It would let a small cross-section sample of the people determine who the presidential candidates shall or shall not be. Maybe only 2,000 or 3,000 would be polled out of a total estimated voting age population of 108 million in 1960.

But is this bad? And is it any worse than the old system of nominating presidential candidates in conventions of 1,000 sweating delegates surrounded by 10,000 screaming spectators, stampeding in a stockyard coliseum while brass bands and blaring broadcast beats their brains out in bedlam?

The obvious answer to any reporter who has tried to cover one of these things—and to any stay-at-home who has watched proceedings on TV—is a great big, "No!"

IT ISN'T THE DELEGATES ON THE CONVENTION floor who make the decision, anyway. These delegates aren't picked because they have any special skill or aptitude for nominating presidential candidates. They're picked for one of two reasons:

1. They are local political bosses who have the folding money—round trip railroad or plane fare plus, say $50 a day for living expenses—that it takes to finance a week at Convention City. Or,

2. They are political headmen who will accept their expense money without asking where it came from and then vote the way the chairman of the state delegation wants—with the machine.

This makes the whole business just about as democratic as a biennial convention of the Teamsters Union or a congress of the Communist party—whichever you prefer.

For the sad fact is that in final analysis, most decisions at Republican and Democratic conventions are steered by rival factions of state and national party bosses, huddled in the traditional smoke-filled room. The result is nomination by a committee of professional politicians. How is that better than nomination by poll?

IN THEORY, THE TRULY DEMOCRATIC METHOD for determining party nominees is by primary election. This gets the largest possible number of voters to show preferences via the ballot box. The trouble is, only 16 states and the District of Columbia have these preference primaries with not always happy experiences.

Ex-Gov. Harold Stassen got knocked out of the running by ex-Gov. Tom Dewey in the 1948 Oregon primary. In the March 1952 New Hampshire primary, General Eisenhower won a running head start over the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

In 1956 Sen. Estes Kefauver won five state primaries and lost seven. This didn't win him the Democratic presidential nomination though it may have helped him get the vice presidential nomination.

BUT THE COST OF PRIMARY CAMPAIGNING IS high. And if candidates had to run in primaries in all 48 states, the cost would be prohibitive for anyone less rich than a Nelson Rockefeller or a Jack Kennedy. A Nixon or a Humphrey couldn't afford it.

Incidentally, preference primary contests between Kennedy and Humphrey in Wisconsin and one or two other states next year might be fatal for one or the other. So the primary isn't the perfect answer to this problem.

But the national nominating convention may also have failed to pick the best men in every instance.

Maybe a national poll of Joe and Jane Doakeses would do a better job in determining the people's choice.

LONDON (AP)—The sign outside the building says Chelsea Methodist church.
Comedian Johnny Wayne blinks and turns to sidkick Frank Shuster.
"Look, Frank! That must mean we're Method players!"
One flight up, the cast waits. A chorus boy lies on a stretcher, smoking. A Scot's director, with thin body and thick accent, glances nervously at his watch. A platinum blonde glides through a dance routine, humming.
In this setting order is soon wrought out of shapelessness. Wayne and Shuster, Canada's top comedy team, take over authoritatively. Briskly they run through lines from "Bell, Book and Canvas," a parody of Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy."
Shuster, 42, stocky, without a temperamental bone in his body, plays the boxer who wants to be somebody.
Wayne, 41, the eternal gag man, tongue tripping to keep pace with a charming mind, impersonates the Italian father set on having his son a musician.
The Canadian comedians flew to London early in July to make films for commercial television, mostly British versions of shows they have done in Toronto and New York.

"It's their second London visit. When they were here two years ago, a British critic applauded their "manic transatlantic zing." But the local cast, watching their free-wheeling approach, seems a little baffled. How did these chaps get their big reputation? Not a line appears in the papers about their visit.
This causes no grief. Success came late to the Canadians and they play it cool. Shuster would prefer to do the job, take the money and go home, leaving the hoopla to those who like it.
The profit and honor came mostly in New York. After 15 middling years in Canada, they clicked on Ed Sullivan's show.
Now they bask in the bright lights without getting burned. New York is nice but Toronto nicer.

FEEDING THE CHILDREN
Many toddlers do not eat or need three large meals a day and often do not participate in more than two. The wise parent respects the smaller appetites of the child and will not force him to eat more than he wants.
There is a vast difference in the food requirements of boys and girls at different age levels. The essential proteins provided by meat, eggs, fish, and cheese are the same, regardless of age. As a result, these foods should not be omitted just because the youngster is drinking an ample amount of milk.

The successful mother avoids also the trap of preparing different foods for each child. Dr. H. D. Lynch and Dr. D. W. Snively, of Evansville, Ind., believe there is no better way to solidify the family group and minimize likes and dislikes than to insist from the start that all share the family fare. This does not mean that the child is forced to eat everything; he is given the privilege of omitting the foods he dislikes.
The easiest way to suppress the small fry's appetite for lunch or dinner is to allow him to eat between meals. Good nutrition depends upon the type of food consumed at the table and not the glass of milk, cookies, and crackers that he gets at 11 a. m. or 4 p. m.

The older child requires more food than the three meal routine supplies. The deficit is obtained by in-between snacks such as a peanut butter sandwich, fruit, milk, and other quality foods. These supplements should not be eaten immediately before meals.
Snacks for the older youngsters and none for the younger tots is a situation that is likely to complicate life for the mother of a large family but it is necessary in order to maintain good nutrition at each age level. Parents should be reasonable, avoid meal-time pressures, and maintain a balance in providing love and attention for their progeny.

NEW YORK (AP)—How is the steel strike affecting the nation's defense industries — vital in this time of world tension?
Will the step-up in steel imports hold over to plague the domestic mills after the strike?
What do the users of steel think about the industry's stand in the strike and about the chance of paying higher prices when the mills operate again?
Associated Press reporters asked these questions in all parts of the nation.
They report that present supplies will last holders of defense contracts anywhere from this October to mid-1960.
They find several users of steel buying foreign metal, even if it costs more, and predicting that if a domestic price rise follows the strike's end, more foreign steel will be coming this way.
Those who will discuss the steel industry's stand are saying, "Inflation has got to be stopped some place." The closer they are to the steel industry itself, the more vocal they prove to be.
Foreign steel plays an increasing part in the planning of many companies. Thomas C. Fogarty, president of Continental Can, says: "We've been importing steel from Wales since April, and we've also arranged to meet our Cuban steel requirements with shipments from overseas. Most of this steel costs us more than we usually pay."
The Klein Manufacturing Co. of Burlington, Iowa, is buying steel from French and Belgian plants. Vice President Walter Klein says it's a stop gap measure, "but if domestic rates are hiked after the strike, steel companies in this country will lose more business to foreign producers."
New Orleans, Houston, San Francisco and Seattle report a big jump in steel imports as users prepared for the strike.
Most defense contract holders report good steel supplies on hand, wherever they got it.
In Texas, Chance Vought Aircraft and Temco Aircraft have six weeks to two months stocks on hand. In East Hartford, Conn., Pratt & Whitney sees no immediate effects from the strike likely. In St. Louis, McDonnell Aircraft says it will be in great shape until October.
Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. says its three-month supply will keep working on its nuclear-powered aircraft carrier and submarine. New Orleans reports its ship yards have good stockpiles and expect no delays.
The same applies to the San Francisco waterfront. Bethlehem Steel's shipbuilding division at Quincy, Mass., has seven ships under way and hasn't been hurt yet even if the parent company is strike bound.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD D. COLVIN

Clarendon Methodist church was the scene of a pretty mid-summer wedding August 15, when Norella Jane Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colburn Steele of 3 Wood street, Clarendon, became the bride of Pfc. Richard Dean Colvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Colvin, 1611 Madison avenue, Warren.

The Rev. Hubert Jicha, Jr., performed the double ring ceremony at 2:00 p. m. in a setting of palms and a large basket of gladioli. Family pews were marked with white ribbon bows. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Louise Davidson of Clarendon, who also provided the organ accompaniment for Richard Smith to sing "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by Robert Colvin, brother of the bridegroom, the bride wore a white ballerina-length gown, fashioned with charming lace bodice and full tulle skirt over satin, matching lace used in peplum effect. Her veil of illusion net fell elbow-length from a lace headband, and her white Bible was topped with a white orchid, showered with lily of the valley streamers and ivy sprays. Her

Summer Season at Birdsall Edey Is Concluded With Outing of Troops

The regular 1958 season has been concluded at Girl Scout Camp Birdsall Edey at Grunderville and all are agreed it has been a most successful and enjoyable summer. The camp committee of Warren-Forest Council urges that all the girls will begin now to buy camp stamps and make possible their attendance next year.

Reporting for the second session of Troop Camping, leaders indicate it would have been a hard trek up the hill had George Ferver not arrived with his jeep to transport all the groceries and equipment to their destination.

The girls prepared morning and evening meals in their units and, after five days of cooking on an open fire, should be experts in the field of back-yard picnicking. Noon meals prepared by Ruby Ransom were very tasty, the girls helping by setting tables and serving. Troops divided cleanup chores after each meal, washing the dishes and sweeping the floor.

Swimming instruction by Ardelle Johnson and Marcia Myers was given each troop every morning, and the free swim in the afternoon proved a favorite activity. Time not spent in swimming was consumed by different badge requirements suitable to the environment.

The job of camp director, first aider, tent inspector, Trading Post clerk and entertainer was ably handled by Sally Deisroth.

District WSCS Series Planned

The Jamestown District WSCS has planned a September series of leadership training classes throughout the district, with officers conducting clinics in the various phases of work of each office.

Scheduled September 22, the Jamestown sub-district meeting will be held at Camp Street Methodist church in Jamestown, with Mrs. Edgar Alexander of Lakewood as chairman; one week later, September 29, a similar session will be held for the Kane-Warren sub-district in Warren's Epworth church. Mrs. Wayne Chamberlain, Sheffield, will serve as chairman.

Registration in each community will be at 9:30 a. m., followed by devotions at 10:00, then the classes. Lunch will be at 12:00, noon, with beverage provided by the hostess group; the afternoon session at 1:15 for a question and answer period. Study books for the year, with suggested methods for their use, and supplementary materials will be presented.

A belated account has also been received of the Erie Conference WSCS Summer School of Missions held on the Allegheny College campus in Meadville with an attendance of more than 100 women.

Among the speakers were Miss Doris Bloomster of Sugar Grove, who formerly served at an Indian school in New Mexico; and Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, Pittsburgh, who showed pictures of his recent visit to Africa.

Those attending from the Jamestown District included Mrs. B. H. Houser, Mrs. S. E. Saylor, Mrs. Raymond Johnson and Mrs. J. G. Marshall, Warren; Miss Gertrude White, Kinzua.

First Baptist 125th Anniversary Continuing With Banquet Tonight

Observance of the 125th anniversary of First Baptist church began Sunday, with good attendance at both morning and afternoon services.

The Rev. Dr. Carl S. Winters challenged the nearly 250 worshippers at the morning service, as well as his radio audience, to make the next 125 years as glorious as the past. Special music was provided by the church choir and Donald L. Owens, who sang a solo.

The 4:00 p. m. service found nearly 150 persons again assembled in the church sanctuary, despite the unusual summer heat, to listen to the musical festival, which had been arranged by Miss Viola Lindmark and to the Rev. Dr. Leland P. Hine, a former pastor of the church.

Special music at this time included an organ recital by Mrs. George Williamson of Indianapolis, formerly of Warren; two vocal solos by Mrs. Gweneth Pearson; and two selections by an instrumental trio comprised of Helen Olson, violin; Edwina Anderson, cello, and Ruth Morrison, piano.

In speaking of the age of the church, Dr. Hine challenged the congregation to meet the needs of the people in the community in every age. The church, he said, is ageless.

Following the service, the congregation adjourned to the assembly room, where sandwiches, cookies and fruit punch were served.

The church will continue its anniversary observance this evening, with a banquet at 6:30 o'clock in the TWCA dining room, and another sanctuary service at 8:00.

Music for this evening's service will include "How Great Thou Art" by Hine and "Thanks Be to God" by Hultman, both sung by Miss Viola Lindmark and Ralph L. Owens; "In the Garden" by Miles and "The Cross Was His Own" by Jones, sung by the women's chorus of the church; and a violin solo by Miss Katherine L. Sparks, "Prize Song" from

The Mature Parent

Child's Curiosity May Need A Psychiatrist's Care

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"We adopted our 7-year-old girl when she was a baby," writes Mrs. S. "For some time I've noticed her interest in the sex of puppies and kittens. Yesterday, neighbors brought over a young mother, and 'baby.' While the mother was changing his diaper, Elly stared at that other woman noticed it and told me I should take her to a psychiatrist. Does she sound mentally unbalanced to you?"

No. But you can't rely on my opinion, as yesterday, for instance, I found myself staring at a woman teetering along the street on backless pumps with four-inch heels.

When I was Elly's age, I stared at lightning bugs, my friends in new dresses, naked boy babies and elephants in the zoo. So, as a starrer myself, my own sanity comes into question here and makes my opinion of Elly's undependable.

Under these circumstances maybe Mrs. S. better consult a psychiatrist.

Indeed, I urge her to. For I expect that her adopted child was born out of wedlock, and that Mrs. S. is struggling with fear that Elly is the inheritor of her natural parents' sinfulness. This fear, I think, is what makes Elly's interest in naked boy babies so worrisome, and as it is not a rational fear, a psychiatrist might help her get over it before it does serious harm to her and Elly.

In the meantime I offer her some words by Dr. Irene M. Josselyn, a noted psychoanalyst of children who writes: "The child's first awareness of bodily differences comes most easily in observation of a small baby. Parents' naturalness in accepting infant nudity gives a casualness to the experience that helps the child absorb what he sees."

But if, like Mrs. S., we resist his curiosity in the sex of babies, kittens and puppies, we make it impossible for him to absorb what he sees. Sensing our disapproval, he's too distracted by it to absorb what he sees. So his sex curiosity remains unsatisfied."

As a result, he'll work out one of two solutions for himself. Either he'll satisfy it in guilty secrecy or start pretending he doesn't feel it. Both solutions have made much trouble in this world.

Why let excess weight shorten your life... ruin your appearance... hamper your success and happiness?

Now...losing weight is as easy as chewing gum!

You get 3 suggested diets from which to choose, and you get to eat the foods you like. However, you should never decide on a stringent diet without first consulting your doctor. Slim-Pac gum will safely cause you to want less... and the multi-vitamin capsule will help maintain normal energy and pep!

NO "CRASH" DIETING... NO STARVING... NO RIGOROUS EXERCISE

Ideal Husband (Poor Thin) As He's Pictured Today

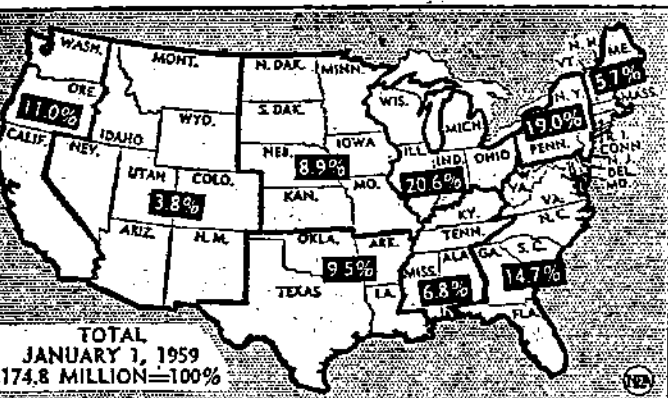

An ideal husband, judging from the articles, advertisements, and fiction in women's magazines is one who—

- Takes over the children when he gets home from work, so that his worn-out wife can get a little rest at the end of a hard day. (Supposedly Papa has been loafing all day himself.)
- Spends his weekends either on do-it-yourself projects which the little woman has dreamed up or on family outings. (Only a cad would look forward to a golf game or poker with the boys.)
- Discusses all family problems with his wife, which is called "talking things over." (Instead of hiding behind a newspaper or sneaking off to his workshop to get away from it all.)
- Pitches in to help with dishwashing, marketing, etc. (No easy chair for him, while Mama cleans up the kitchen and gets the kids to bed.)
- Never makes a decision without first consulting the little woman. (How can you have complete "togetherness" if Papa is going to decide things on his own?)
- Is a pal to his children. (Even though what they may need more than a pal is a father who demands and gets their respect and who is the voice of authority in his own household.)
- Encourages his wife to "express herself." (That means he doesn't grumble if Mama is too busy being a do-gooder to keep up the house.)

He's something quite new in the way of husbands, this ideal as pictured by the women's magazines.

He may be easy to live with and the answer to the modern maiden's prayer. But isn't he going to be a trifle dull, once he's given up all of his masculine independence to become little helper and the kids' best pal?

POPULATION PROFILE — At the beginning of 1959, 175 million persons were living in the U.S., the Census Bureau estimates. This was an increase of nearly 25 million since the last official census in 1950. Newspaper above shows how they were distributed in geographical areas. Eight states making up the highly industrialized Middle Atlantic and East North Central regions accounted for 40 per cent of the population. More than one-third of the total population was under the age of 20.

TELLS THE STORY—Ordinarily shrouded in smoke from its furnaces, deserted Gary, Ind., works of U. S. Steel stand out clearly in this aerial view. President Eisenhower told reporters attending his Gettysburg news conference that it was "shallow thinking" to suggest that the government must intervene to force a steel strike settlement before Soviet Premier Khrushchev visits this country.

There is very little to the play at six spades. South goes right up with dummy's ace of hearts and plays the king and ace of spades.

Since spades break three-two he has no further problems about the small slam. He trumps his low diamond, gets back to his hand with the queen of clubs and runs out all his trumps and the ace and king of diamonds.

He discards all dummy's hearts and watches East squirm. Eventually East has to let a club go in order to keep a high heart and South makes a grand slam.

There is even less to the play at six hearts. Declarer goes after the trumps and has to lose two trump tricks.

The trick to the hand is to land in spades with only eight trumps instead of hearts with nine.

The hand can be bid in any number of ways but the key to reaching the spade contract lies with North. He must realize that since he is void in diamonds there may be a good reason to make his hand the dummy and he must give up his six card suit in favor of his partner's five carder.

FALLOUT SHELTER FOR A NEW HOME

For Family Protection in Nuclear War

ANOTHER type of shelter which gives excellent fallout protection can be built as an added room to the basement of a home under construction. It would add about $500 to the total cost of the home.

The shelter illustrated here is based on such a room built into a new home in the Washington, D. C., area in the Spring of 1959. Important considerations for each type of shelter are: arrangement of the entrance, ventilation, radio reception and lighting. "The Family Fallout Shelter," an OCEM publication, contains plans for five basic fallout shelters. Copies may be obtained by writing: Box Home Shelter, Battle Creek, Mich.

Somebody Holding Bag Containing $141,950

NEW YORK (AP)—Postal inspectors today trying to find out who's holding the bag—with $141,950 in missing money in it.
The bag with the money disappeared early this month after it was received at the Liberty, N. Y., post office for shipment to the Federal Reserve Bank here.
It never arrived.
The money belonged to the Sullivan County National Bank. Joseph Fersch, bank president, said his bank had a receipt from the post office for the money.
Postal authorities said the bag may have been misplaced or misdirected.

Cloudburst Isolates Colorado River Towns

NEEDLES, Calif., (AP)—A desert cloudburst almost isolated this tiny Colorado River town Monday night.
The flash flood ended early today—as abruptly as it started.
An estimated 200 motorists were stranded, three railroad workers were missing, and parts of U. S. Highways 66 and 95 were washed out.
Sheriff's officers said the flood sealed off the town on the north, south and west—and threatened the road leading eastward. U. S. 66 is a transcontinental road through the town.

WARREN WRITER TELLS HOW VEEP SAVED DAY FOR TWO DERBY RACERS AFTER SPILL

Submitted by Joan Himes
The running of the 22nd All American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio not only gave to 170 boys from all corners of the United States and four foreign countries experiences and thrills that nothing could ever surpass, but also to two of the competitors came the thrill of a lifetime.

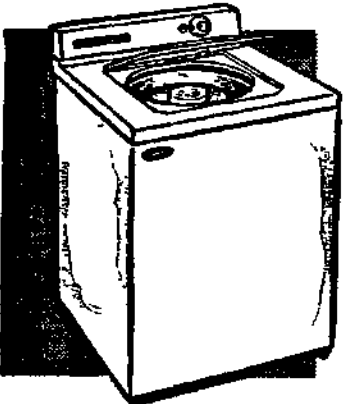

In a freak mishap in the first heat of the race, two young boys were involved in a misfortune that could easily have spoiled the entire four wonderful days that preceded the running of the derby. Danny Doupe of Rochester, New York and Brian Hancock of Mission City, British Columbia, locked wheels when Doupe lost control of his racer momentarily. The impact threw Doupe from his racer to the ground and sent Hancock's racer into the curbing lining the side of the course. The ambulance that was standing by in case of any accidents was immediately at the scene and the two boys were placed into it and driven down the hill to the finish line. Very fortunately, neither boy was injured to any extent but it was necessary to take them to a nearby hospital for a complete checkup to ward against any unseen injury that may have occurred.

The boys who had toiled for many months building their racers for their local competitions and had emerged champions for the privilege of competing in the All American were very disheartened at the thought of losing their chance. Nothing could ever take the place of the thrill of running down the race course of famous Derby Downs for their try at becoming the All American Champion for 1959. But unknown to the boys in the ambulance there was something waiting for them that would make them forget their unhappiness and make them two of the happiest boys in the entire race.

As the ambulance approached the finish line of the course a very distinguished young man walked from his box seat across the track to the ambulance. He opened the door, climbed in and sat down with the boys to talk to them. The man who emerged through the door to the very saddened little group was none other than the Vice President of the United States, Richard Nixon. Immediately the boys forgot their unhappiness in the surprise of seeing this great man who had taken upon himself to cheer these boys and give them encouragement. No other thrill could ever have done for these boys what this famous person did. All the tears and hurt were obliterated and a feeling of happiness and excitement took their place. This man had done what nothing in the entire world could have done for these two young boys. He showed his humility and human feelings at that moment to a crowd of 75,000 people as he will never be able to surpass again. In the eyes of the crowd he was truly an angel of mercy and on the minds of those two boys he will be forever engraved as the man who made their day.

There Is Still Plenty of Time to Build That Longed-for Patio

BY KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Although springtime is supposed to be when homemakers spur their spouses to brick the terrace, build a patio and generally get set for summer outdoor living, the truth is that many such major projects start in the heat of midsummer sparked by admiration for what the neighbors have done for their outdoor living arrangements.

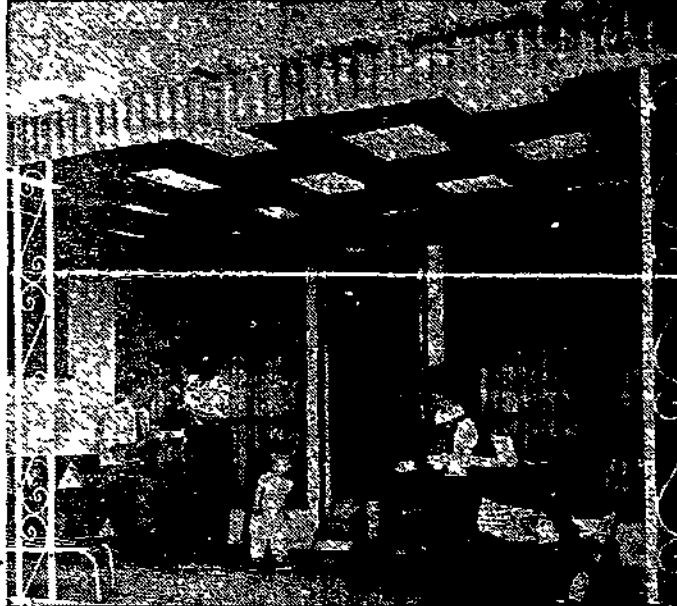

The emphasis now is not so much on planning an attractive outdoor living room as it is on extending its usefulness as far into the autumn as possible.

Calculations for windbreaks for roofing a terrace either partially or fully are busy many homemakers.

Of importance to consider is which way to face a patio, how to provide for adequate ventilation during hot weather and choosing materials which can be used by amateurs, successfully and economically.

One material that has gained favor is Fiberglas reinforced plastic which comes in panels of standard widths and lengths and in lovely translucent colors. It's used for roofing, awnings and windbreaks for outdoors; and for screens, room dividers and luminous ceilings indoors. Its light weight makes it easy to handle.

A few pointers on patios from Miss Margaret Castle, of El Segundo, Calif., manager of consumer relations for a major producer of these panels may help avoid some common mistakes.

The terrace of this modern ranch house enjoys longer usage when a roof is added. It is Fiberglas reinforced plastic.

Often forgotten by amateur builders, she says, is provision for adequate ventilation. Hot air trapped under the roof must be allowed to escape. To provide for air circulation, she suggests building the patio roof slightly lower or higher than that of the house or by allowing open spaces at either side.

Location of the patio should take into account the general climate. In hot climates, Miss Castle told me, she advises choosing northern and eastern exposures. In cooler areas, patios can face west to take advantage of light from the setting sun and thus extend their usefulness.

Color selection is not entirely a matter of decorative tastes. Dusty peach, snow, Nile green, yellow, old rose and turquoise are among colors which best resist heat while allowing evenly diffused light to enter the area, Miss Castle says.

If temperature is not a vital consideration, but maximum light to prevent darkening of adjacent interiors is, colors such as clear, frost, jade and amber are good choices.

A modern patio setting makes full use of modern materials to achieve privacy, protection from wind and longer usage.

panels are also used successfully as partial fences or windbreaks in small areas where the translucence gives privacy without a "shut-in" feeling.

To heighten the decorative effect, greenery silhouetted against the back of the panels makes a lacy mural. A similar material is also used for chairs, tables and planter bowls that boast the same hard, smooth and weather-resistant surfaces and brilliant color. They are as decorative outdoors as indoors.

Yellow is a favorite color in areas which frequently have overcast skies because it tends to act as a substitute for missing sunlight. In hot areas, Nile green is often preferred not only because it resists heat transmission but because it is associated visually with coolness.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Take me to your leader," I said to the teenager, and there I was, talking to Dick Clark.

The Clark cult is something unparalleled in entertainment history. Seldom has any one person wielded so much power over a segment of the population. Since teen-agers practically support the pop record field, Clark exercises vast influence over it through his TV shows.

Obviously, this is a man to be reckoned with. Clark is here to make his first movie, "Because They're Young," and I found him to be a smooth, no-nonsense 28-year-old who knows his field.

But doesn't it bug him to be around teen-agers so much?

"Not at all," he replied calmly. "I get more put out with older people who try to act young. I like kids because they act their age."

He doesn't take his expertise in teen-age matters lightly.

"I'm with teen-agers on the average of five and six hours every day," he explained. "It's like working in a bakery; if you're around it long enough, you'll learn how to bake. I've learned how teen-agers act. And I know that most pictures about teen-agers are wrong. They are older people's concept of how teen-agers act."

Clark said he will try to avoid such pitfalls in his film. He is a partner with Columbia in it, so he has plenty of say. But he admitted that it won't be a completely accurate depiction.

"I doubt if there ever can be a truly honest portrayal in films," he explained. "Not all girls are beautiful and all boys handsome, as they are in films. Not all of them have good-looking clothing. Not all schools are freshly painted and whitewashed."

Clark plays a school teacher and he has a romance with the principal's secretary, lovely Victoria Shaw.

The teen-agers in the film will all be normal types, except for two that have a scrape with the police. "The script is fairly true to life," he said. "Most teen-agers are normal."

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's greatest city prides itself on its hospitality, but outsiders sometimes call it a cold hard city, a city of eight million strangers. "You could commit a murder in the middle of the street," they say, "and nobody would interfere. Nobody would want to get involved."

It is true New York is pretty much a let-you-alone city. It is teeming with eight million people pursuing almost as many separate dreams.

A city so crowded has to have a leave-you-alone philosophy. Otherwise they'd all be rubbing each other raw, hating each other's nearness.

But let trouble strike and the world's biggest city immediately becomes the world's biggest town, populated not by eight million strangers but by eight million buddies.

This happened during the famous blizzard of 1938, as the survivors have been loquaciously telling us for 71 years.

It happened again during the famous 25-inch snowfall of 1947. Then cheery bus drivers even drove their lumbering vehicles down side streets to let passengers off in front of their dwellings so they wouldn't have to wade through sidewalk drifts.

It happened against this week when a massive power failure for a few hours left 500,000 people in upper Manhattan iceless, lightless, televisionless — and dependent on each other for company.

They shared meals, candles, small talk.

"Everybody was suddenly friendly," said one man wonderingly. "I never saw anything like it in the three years I've lived here."

"I got acquainted with the fellow who lives in the apartment adjoining mine. Nice guy."

"I went to a bar and sat next to a man I'd seen there a hundred times. All he'd ever say before was, 'Pass the pretzels.' This time he was bubbling over with conversation, and we took turns buying the beers."

"It was a wonderful feeling. Now I think it might be a good idea if they turned off the electricity all over the city one night a month, so people would have to sit down and talk together and get to know each other."

Your Forest Ranger

The Sheffield Ranger Station, just count back from the top flag pole—all, straight and of uniform taper—has stood there for over 20 years. Once it was a living thing growing among other native white pine on the Allegheny National Forest. Now, because wood rot has dangerously weakened it at the base, it is to be replaced by a pole of steel.

In its struggle for survival in the forest it poked its crown above the other trees and dropped its lower limbs early in life leaving a trunk as clean and smooth as a hound's tooth. It was this intense competition that made it a slender thing—tall and straight. In another age, it might have grown into the mast for a Clipper ship to bend and sway before a screaming gale as the ship rounded the Horn.

Today, throughout the range of the eastern white pine, tall straight trees—fit for the masts of sailing ships or for flag poles—are no longer easy to find. A snout beetle, about one-fifth of an inch long, is responsible for this situation. Known as the white pine weevil, it lays its eggs in the leaders of eastern white pine. The larvae that feed on the new shoot kill this terminal growth. Two years of growth is usually killed at one time, but sometimes three or even four.

It is discouraging to see a promising young white pine that you thought had escaped the weevil exude glistening droplets of resin on last year's terminal shoot. Upon closer examination, you will find that the resin leaked out from tiny holes made by the adults in feeding.

Some time in June the new shoot of the current year's growth will wilt and turn brown. The tree, however, is not doomed to die. It can lose its head and still live—but it will bear the scars of battle for life. If it is fated to suffer repeated attacks, it will become a deformed caricature of a tree—as crooked as a Scotchman's cane. If it is attacked only once, it will develop a definite crook in the main stem, or might even become a forked tree. But after that, it will straighten out above the crook and grow normally again.

The reason why the death of the terminal shoot is so disastrous to a tree that might have made fine lumber, a ship's mast or a flag pole, is that one of the branches in the whorl below the dead leader has to assume this role. Since its normal function is to grow slightly upward or straight outward it can only reach for the sky by a tremendous effort—a form of gymnastics similar to that required for a human to walk on his hands instead of his feet. Sometimes two limbs take over the task and race skyward with equal speed. Since neither wins, the result is a forked tree.

Every attack made by the white pine weevil brands the tree for life. Each year that the little beetle with the snout has struck can easily be determined.

It is because of the damage caused by this insect that our native white pine—the tree best adapted to this area—is no longer planted on the Allegheny National Forest.

Now the use of chemical sprays delivered by helicopters offers new hope that this valuable species can again take its rightful place in plantations on the Forest. Further experimentation in aircraft spraying, however, is needed.

Insects would ravage our agricultural crops annually if farmers did not fight back with chemical dusts and sprays. If they hesitated to use chemical they would soon be out of business. It would seem unreasonable that the tree farmer should not also, by the use of chemical sprays, attempt to control the insects that attack his crop of trees. Unless the white pine weevil is controlled in this manner, one of the finest timber trees in the East will play only a minor role in the forests of the future.

In a succeeding column I will discuss modern control methods designed to keep insects in their proper place in the Forest.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP) — American Smelting & Refining Co. will spend $3½ million dollars in the next 3 years developing a mill and an open pit copper mine in near Tucson, Ariz.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices of folding cartons and rayon yarns are moving up. Industry sources say Western manufacturers of folding cartons are hiking prices of some products 5 to 7½ per cent now and further increases are coming later. Increased production costs are the reason.

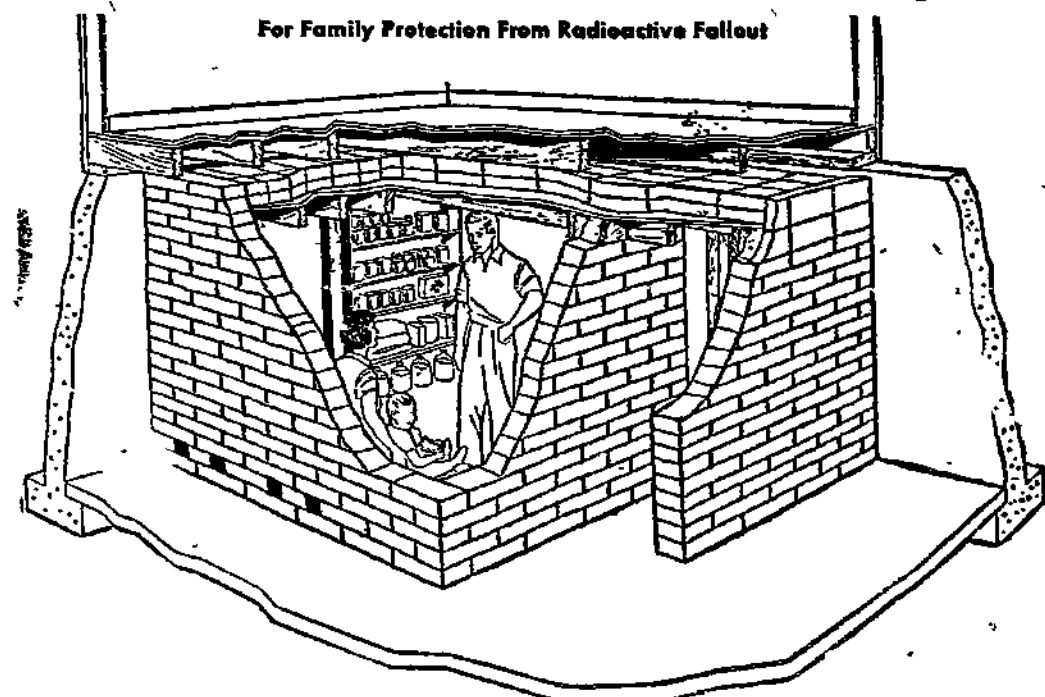

At the same time, the American Bemberg Division of Beumit Mills is posting increases of three cents a pound on all rayon filament yarns.

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense contracts continue to play an important role in the economy. Radio Corp. of America won an $11,225,000 contract to produce lightweight radar units for the Marine Corps. They are for use in amphibious assault operations. Waltham Precision Instrument Co. received a $2,260,000 award to make shell fuses for the Army.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sales of Hotpoint appliances are running nearly 10 per cent ahead of a year ago, reports William C. Wichman, general manager of the Hotpoint Division of General Electric Co. He adds that Hotpoint has enough steel to keep production lines busy through next month.

DO-IT-YOURSELF SHELTER PROJECT

For Family Protection From Radioactive Fallout

BASEMENT SHELTERS generally are the least expensive type that will give substantial protection. The basement shelter shown here can be built with solid concrete blocks as a do-it-yourself project for $150 to $200. Standard 8-inch solid concrete blocks are recommended because hollow blocks would have to be filled with concrete to give effective protection. Bricks are an alternative. If they are used, the walls and roof should be 10 inches thick to give the same protection as 8-inch solid concrete blocks. Plans for this do-it-yourself project appear in "The Family Fallout Shelter," OGDH booklet. Copies may be obtained from Box Home Shelter, OGDH, Battle Creek, Michigan.

HUGE MARBLE BLOCK

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery has one of the largest single blocks of marble quarried in America. Coming from an almost solid mountain of marble in western Colorado, it was cut to size in Vermont.

During 1958, the average American drank 68 gallons of tea.

Family of Five Survives Isolation in Bomb Shelter

By RUSSELL H. MULLEN
PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—The Thomas A. Pownier family has just survived a rigorous test of togetherness. All five of them emerged Friday after two weeks of isolation in a 72-square-foot a-bomb shelter.
And, said Mr. and Mrs. Pownier Saturday, the experience was "very beneficial."
After a day of medical and psychological tests, the parents held a news conference at Princeton University with their two boys, Scott, 5, and Tony, 8; and girl, Hilary, 23 months. The family had gone into the cubicle on July 31 in the basement of a university laboratory at the request of the Federal Office of Civilian Defense.
The main purpose was to learn what physical and psychological changes are needed in civil defense plans for a standard family shelter.
Pownier, 31, said the main problems during the two weeks were heat and odors. He's a contractor from Cranbury and has built several homes. Pownier had several suggestions for making life more livable in a shelter. One dealt with garbage disposal.
They accumulated a four-foot pile of garbage.
Air was piped in to the concrete shelter and circulated by hand pumps which the family turned every half hour during waking hours.
Humidity was a problem with clothes taking a day and a half to dry after they were washed. The temperature averaged 83 degrees at the ceiling and 71 at the floor.
They took 38 gallons of water in with them and had 10 left over when they walked out.
The parents took along a word game and a dozen books. For the children, they had books, games, crayons, puzzles and toys.

The shelter was stocked with $130 worth of food, all of it canned or packaged. It ranged from ravioli to peanut butter.
Mrs. Pownier cooked in a chafing dish over a candle. It took an hour and a half to heat a can of spaghetti.
The family didn't know it at the time but every word they spoke during the 336-hour stint was monitored and recorded on 33 miles of tape. Prof. Jack A. Vernon said the monitoring was necessary for the Powniers' own safety and they could not be told of it or the test would not have been realistic.
Mrs. Pownier, 31, wore shorts during the test and, like the other members of the family, went barefoot. She made one concession to gracious living—a lipstick which she took along and used "to keep up my morale."
Once a day the family did exercises, capped by a big march around the shelter accompanied by the noise of banging on tins.
Vernon said this noise was "intolerable" over the microphone. "I don't know how they stood it."
It was at Titusville that the success of Drake's well gave birth to the oil industry on August 27, 1859. The last week in August oil men from all over this nation and from many foreign countries will gather in Titusville to commemorate that event with oil's "Celebration of the Century."

Posthumous Rank Of Guard Colonel For Oil Founder

HARRISBURG—One hundred and one years after the unofficial title of "Colonel" was bestowed by a well meaning friend on Edwin L. Drake, the father of the oil industry, a bill has been introduced in the Pennsylvania State Senate that would make the title official.
The bill, jointly sponsored by four state senators, would bestow upon Drake the posthumous rank of colonel in the Pennsylvania National Guard. The idea for the official title was first proposed by Genevieve Blatt, Pennsylvania Secretary of Internal Affairs, in a speech she gave in Titusville, Pa., last spring.
Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania bill would authorize the commonwealth's Military Affairs Department, with the Governor's approval, to bestow the commission on Drake.
The measure observes that "Although affectionately known during his lifetime as 'Colonel,' Edwin L. Drake never actually claimed this title and never had it officially conferred upon him."
It adds that "The General Assembly of this commonwealth is mindful of the importance of the oil industry to Pennsylvania and of the pioneering efforts of Edwin L. Drake in the beginnings of that industry."
Sponsors of the bill are state Senators Raymond P. Shafer (R-Crawford County), James S. Berger (R-Potter County), Leroy E. Chapman (R-Warren County) and Joseph M. Barr (D-Allegheny County).

KEEPING IN TUNE WITH SPACE AGE Educator Cites Importance of Music Courses

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Anyone who thinks that music courses have lost prestige in the public schools is out of tune with Space Age teaching philosophy.
For emphasis on science and mathematics has in no way diminished the importance and popularity of classroom music sessions and probably never will.
That's the opinion of Vanetti Lawler, executive secretary of the Music Educators National Conference, a department of the National Education Assn.
"Music education as a whole seemed to lack proper emphasis at the beginning of the Sputnik era because of the stress given to science and mathematics," she explains. "However, thoughtful educators soon called for a balanced curriculum between science and other subjects."
"Now where there is quality teaching and a thoughtful program that's reaching a large group of students, music education is holding its own very well," Miss Lawler said. She explains that these conditions exist in the majority of schools.
To illustrate the strong national enthusiasm for music education, she points to statistics which show that 60,000 bands, 35,000 orchestras and about 150,000 choral groups have been organized in public schools and colleges throughout the country. Another indication of this interest she believes, is the variety of new and novel techniques that have been introduced to teach music. For instance, films have been produced that show how to play various musical instruments. Music lectures and demonstrations are also being presented via educational television. In most schools, music classes are compulsory in the elementary grades and the first year of junior high school.

Many schools have added zip to their music lectures by including the history of jazz. Others have organized dance bands in addition to the regular marching variety.
"There's nothing wrong with dance bands in schools," Miss Lawler declares. "A lot of these young people are going to make their living by playing in dance bands when they graduate."
Miss Lawler believes the country would be completely off key if the importance of music and other fine arts programs were ever downgraded. She says that she knows a lot of scientists who agree.
"You can't live by bread alone," she declares. "Furthermore, we must not educate all our boys and girls to be mathematicians and scientists. They must have more than just knowledge about what makes Sputnik go around and how to read a bank statement."
She also pooh-poohs the idea that music is a snap course. "You can have the same type of intellectual discipline in music as in math," she says. "And it's just as tough to teach a professional musician as it is a scientist."
She explains that schools have gotten away from the philosophy that anyone can teach music. Now principals are beginning to require that music teachers have a solid background in the subject. Those that don't are often supervised by experienced teachers until they meet required standards.
Miss Lawler majored in piano and organ at the University of Wisconsin. She went to work for the Music Educators' National Conference soon after graduation.
Following World War II she was loaned to the UNESCO Secretariat in Paris, where she headed the Arts and Letters Department. Later she became Music Education Consultant to the Pan American Union.
In addition to collecting long-playing records, Miss Lawler's favorite hobby is tossing parties. "I love to give parties," she says. "I love to get ready for them. I always wear myself out getting everything arranged. Once they're underway, though, they always seem to run themselves."
Miss Lawler has been in charge of the Music Educators' National Conference for the last five years.

Bipartisan Plan Would Give School Subsidies Boost

By JACK LYNCH
HARRISBURG (U)—State aid to schools would be boosted an extra 100 million dollars in the next two years under a bipartisan plan submitted before the senate today.
It contracts with another school subsidy proposal introduced in the House several months ago that would add an estimated 200 million dollars to the state's educational bill.
Gov. Lawrence's 1959-60 budget program calls for some 705 millions in subsidies during the two year period. But an additional 28 millions may be added from the proposed 4 per cent sales tax.
Sen. Harry E. Seyler (D-York), a junior high school principal, said the senate bill would increase the maximum annual school subsidy base from $5,800 per teaching unit to $7,000 the first year and to $8,000 the second year of the biennium.
The House bill would boost the maximum base to $9,000 immediately for each teaching unit. A unit consists of 22 pupils in high schools or 30 pupils in elementary schools.
The Senate version also would require local effort to

BENEFIT BARBECUE

Youngsville Kiwanis Club will stage another chicken barbecue in Island Park from 5:00 to 7:30 p. m. Saturday for the benefit of its underprivileged children's fund. Tickets are available from any club member and the support of the public will be appreciated.
Neither the House bill nor the Senate version provides for teacher salary increases. However, a separate House bill would appropriate 64 million dollars for this purpose.

Jaycee "Exhausted Roosters" Reunion Planned Tonight

A flock of exhausted roosters will be crowing tonight beginning at 6:00 p. m. at the Musante Camp on Chapman Dam road. For those who require translation "Exhausted Rooster" is the term applied to Jaycees who have passed their 36th birthday and are no longer eligible for active membership in the Junior Chamber of Commerce.
For the first time in its eleven year history, the Warren Jaycee chapter is having a reunion for all past members of the chapter. Over 500 letters were sent to all known ex-Jaycees and the response has been extremely gratifying according to Jaycee Tom Musante who is chairman of the reunion.
The idea for the gala reunion originated with Frank Cruickshank, an Exhausted Rooster of some years standing who still serves as a valuable member of the Jaycees bowling team. Site for the picnic is the Mu-

Be Casual, But Neat in Grooming

A pretty girl at the beach is a pleasant sight on a summer's day. But her beauty is no happy accident; it's the result of care. This beauty uses (left) a facial depilatory before she goes to the beach, knowing that the strong light of the sun can show up any superfluous hair. She follows this up with a soothing, antiseptic cream planned to counteract skin irritation. She brings a lotion deodorant with her to the beach (center) for use after her shower. The breakproof plastic container rolls the liquid on without dripping. She uses (right) a copper-colored, translucent gelée to tint her skin and promote a fast, dewy tan. It is said to prevent dehydration from sun and salt spray. She uses it after each swim.

Summer is hot, damp and debilitating. It's a casual time of year, when it's very easy to let down on the amenities. But it is certainly not the time to neglect good grooming.

Accent your femininity with crisp, immaculate clothes, fresh accessories and sleek, polished hair.

Don't let the heat make you lazy about your appearance. Before you go to the beach, be sure that your manicure and pedicure are in good condition. Chipped polish is unsightly.

Wear your hair in a style that can be combed into place without fuss after you've been in the water.

And, most important, be fastidious about keeping your face and legs smooth and hair-free. In the harsh light of the sun, any superfluous hair on your chin or upper lip is clearly visible.

One leading beauty house offers a depilatory made especially for removing facial hair. It is used together with a gentle antiseptic cream that is claimed to restore the skin to its natural balance. The makers say that after its use, there is no coarse look and no bristly regrowth of hair to annoy you. You can also get the same depilatory in its regular form for your legs and underarms.

An antiperspirant is always a grooming "must" and especially in the hot summer months. You need to use a deodorant on the beach as well as anywhere else, for you're bound to perspire if you sit for any length of time in the hot sun.

There is one on the market that is subtly scented and is said to give instant, lasting protection, without mess or irritation. It comes in a breakproof, plastic container of the roll-on type that is handy for traveling.

Of course, an attractive appearance is impossible if your skin is red and peeling. This late in the season, most of us have already acquired a fairly good tan. But for those who are just starting summer vacations, the watchword is "Go easy!" Don't try to catch up with your friends by baking yourself. All you'll get for your pains is an ugly, sore skin.

Use a suntan cream to filter the sun's rays. There is one, a copper-colored translucent gelée, that tints your skin and hides the white look of a long, hard winter. It's creators promise that it will moisturize while promoting a deep, dewy tan, and prevent dehydration from sun and salt spray.

Don't use the heat as an excuse to be sloppy. With a little care on your part, you'll find the summer months more conducive to beauty than any other time of year.

Annual McKean County Fair To Open Labor Day

SMETHPORT — The county seat of McKean County was starting to roll up its sleeves and go to work as only four weeks remain before the 74th annual McKean County Fair, one of the oldest fairs in the state of Pennsylvania. The fair working crews will soon move into the vast fair grounds to complete the finishing touches to the buildings and grounds in readiness for the invasion of the army of exhibitors, midway personnel, stage crews and performers.

The 1959 fair looms as the best ever since it was revitalized some six years ago after not being held for thirteen years. Since it has been revived, it has attracted the largest crowds in its long history and has improved each year to the point where a new Grange hall is now under construction and additional room is being made on the fair grounds for the many exhibitors who seek space each year. Fair president, Russ Weston, and special events and midway director, Jeff Beere, have been busy lining up top-notch attractions, special events, and numerous other features to make the 1959 fair another tremendous success.

The advance sale of book tickets will get under way August 17th, when ten admissions to the Fair will be sold at a reduced rate. Tickets may be obtained by writing or calling the Fair office in Smethport. The nearly three-quarters of a century history of the McKean County Fair has established it as one of the greatest attractions of the early fall season.

As has been the tradition since the founding of the Fair, the 1959 Fair will open on Labor Day, September 7th, and will continue for six days and six nights ending at midnight, September 12th. The usual array of afternoon horse racing will be staged; stage show and attractions will be presented twice daily at matinee and evening performances.

AROUND THE WORLD

HEADACHE—Almost forgotten by the people of St. Petersburg, Fla., this massive stone head of St. Peter lies in a wilderness in the city's Lake Maggiore Park. The 20-foot head was put up in a park, then removed when residents protested. For three years it's been nearly forgotten in this spot.

DIRTY WORK AFOOT—Legging it at the last minute, the sailor at the end of the line is hoping his shine-'em-up technique will enable him to pass inspection in Dallas, Tex. If the inspecting officer walks around him, he's in for it.

THE LOWDOWN—His beard too white to be that of a beatnik, a Soviet senior citizen (second from right) seems to be getting a kick out of trying on American-made cap at the U.S. exhibit in Moscow. Three male models are briefing the visitor.

GHOST TOWN—Eerily shrouded in fog, the skyscrapers of Manhattan loom gloomily beyond the cage-like wire rigging of the Brooklyn Bridge. This view was made on a summer day when the fog, high humidity and high temperature wrapped everything in sight as if done in a giant wet basket. But it was only temporary.

DRY DOC—A rubber boot-and-trousers outfit reaching to the chest keeps trainer Adolf Frohn dry as he doctors a porpoise at the Seaquarium in Miami, Fla. Newly captured, the porpoise rests in a "hammock" while Frohn paints antibiotics on the flippers to ward off infection. After this paint job the new resident got a shot of penicillin.

BACK AGAIN—The old-fashioned union suit has been revived for leisure wear at home this fall. A faithful copy of grandpa's longjohns, done in curry-colored jersey, the novel costume buttons down the front. It can be worn with a narrow belt and a variety of casual blouses and jackets. There's also a version in fuzzy black mohair.

BIRD FANCIER—A bird in hand isn't enough for Mrs. Charles Harris, of Merced, Calif., for she's balancing a second one on her shoulder. The birds, a couple of Cooper hawks, are among the many that have been housed at the Harris home in the past five years.

WATERING PLACE—Forced to take unusual measures to try and save their drought-starved crops, farmers line up with water wagons while fire department pumps fill the wagons with water from a nearby creek in Alfter, Germany. The farmers needed the precious water to moisten their fields which have been withering away in the throes of a fierce heat wave that has gripped the country this summer.

CUB SCOUT—A lad who loves his leopards is Danny Livingston, who's cuddling up with two of the jungle cubs at an animal store in New York. Danny didn't know he loved the creatures until he visited the store which sells live animals to people with a penchant for off-beat pets. These two were priced at $298 each.

Baseball Survey

(Last of a Series)
By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP). — Baseball is entertainment, as is television. What we have done is merge the two so the public can enjoy our great national pastime.

That's the answer of William C. (Bill) Macphail, director of sports for the Columbia Broadcasting Co., Inc., to charges by minor league baseball men throughout the land that the telecasts of big league games have practically wrecked their domain.

"We feel," Macphail said, "that baseball on television—any brand of baseball—tends to create and stimulate interest in the game in general, and in the home town in particular. If the latter is properly promoted."

"We in television do not feel that televising of the major leagues on Saturday and Sunday has materially affected the structure of minor league baseball. The figures show that the trend of the diminishing minor leagues was well in evidence long before television became a factor in 1953."

"At its peak, the National Association had 59 leagues in operation—namely the 1948-50 era. In 1953, when major league baseball first entered into the national television market, 38 leagues were in operation—a drop of 34 per cent."

"Last year there were 24 leagues in operation, a ratio in proportion with the pre-television decline."

In addition to the charges hurled at television, the minors blame their sagging situation on such things as the far-flung farm system and the bonus plan, both of which they say tie up all available talent for the majors; desire of the majors to "make a quick buck" instead of having a long-range cooperative plan which might save the minors; lack of leadership willing to take a strong hand in settling major-minor differences, and a multitude of other things.

The fact remains that the once far-flung empire of minor league teams continues to crumble.

McCovey, Movie Addict, Knocks Off Enemy Pitchers

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA)—Willie McCovey coiled the bat languidly over his left shoulder as the young Cincinnati pitcher pumped.

A split-second later Willie had proof he was a major leaguer—he dug himself a hole in the ground at home plate.

Jim O'Toole, a southpaw who's supposed to have control, hadn't shown him the courtesy of merely throwing at his head. He threw behind it, so all Willie could do was flop. It was the first time O'Toole had seen Willie.

He'd heard of him, of course. Already one San Francisco newspaper has run a serialized life story on Willie. And before games during the Giants' last home stand a guy couldn't hardly get at him for the 20-odd cameramen, telecasters and magazine writers around.

How much can there be to tell? Willie's 21, out of Mobile, and a couple of weeks ago was praying the air-conditioning wouldn't break down in Phoenix.

HE WAS ALSO HITTING .377 for that Giant farm club, culminating a hot streak that began in mid-June, when Willie was still floundering from the effects of a pre-season knee operation.

Everybody knows how he hit and won games in his first seven outings as a Giant, but San Franciscans ignore dry statistics. They tell about one rifle shot that drilled against the right field stands with such impact that the ball rebounded three-quarters of the way back.

Bill Rigney, the cheer-leading Skipper, says, "He's got a good swing, the wrist action that marks the great ones, from Ted Williams on down."

McCovey stands six feet four, is square at the shoulders and a supple 180 pounds.

There's no confusion when Rigney wants him, although there are a couple of other Willies in the vicinity—Mays and Kirtland. Rigney hollers, "Stretch." The reason is obvious.

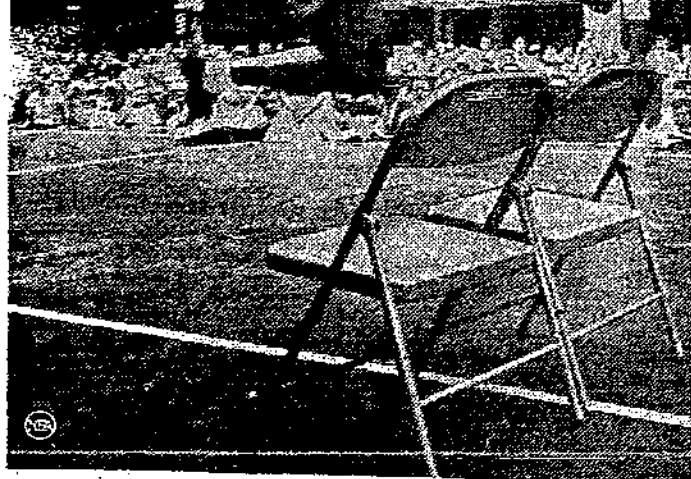

FIRST BASE IS HIS POSITION, and all he did was shove Orlando Cepeda, the National League Rookie of 1958, over to third base. Orlando treated ground balls hit that way like jumping beans and was finally moved to left field, although Rigney denies that the Cuban was switched because of his fielding.

"I'm just playing Cepeda a little deeper," he cracks. Until he faced O'Toole in his eighth game, Willie had not been knocked down. Willie can expect to be pitched high and tight in the National League, where he has been a rich strike to date.

"TLL TELL YOU ONE thing," says Tom Sheehan, the farm system trouble-shooter who supervised McCovey's climb to the parent club. "He's not going to get excited."

Willie doesn't say much, but you can tell being in San Francisco appeals to him.

"Ah likes it here," says shoot-'em-up fan Willie McCovey, "because Ah can take in three movies a day and not run out by Wednesday, like in Phoenix."

SPRING CHICKEN.—Nearly a quarter of a century after his triple victory in the Olympic Games of 1936, Jesse Owens flies nimbly over a pair of chairs in a demonstration of hurdling technique in the Chicago Loop. Special exhibitions herald Pan-American Games opening on lake front, Aug. 27.

Featherweight Risking Title In L. A. Tonight

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP). — World featherweight champion Davey Moore risks his title tonight against the man he dethroned five months ago, Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria.

The 15-round, nationally televised scrap is scheduled to go on at the Olympic Auditorium at 7 p.m., Pacific Daylight Time. It will be televised nationally over the ABC network.

The 25-year-old champion from Springfield, Ohio, remained a 3-1 betting favorite to keep the rule of the world's 126-pounders in the United States.

Soft-speaking, hard-hitting Davey overpowered his 27-year-old rival and stopped him in 13 rounds in a brawl last March 18 that was a sizzler all the way.

Moore, with a record of 13 knockouts in his 36 wins in 42 fights, is rated the harder puncher. The "King," as Bassey's countrymen named him on a grand tour of Nigeria last fall, has stopped 20 foes in 67 bouts.

Bassey won the vacant featherweight title in 1956 when he stopped Cherif Hamia of France in 10 rounds. He successfully defended it here when he knocked out Plarito (Little Bird) Moreno of Mexico in three rounds.

Moore required only one round to shoot down the Little Bird and earn his shot at the title.

Lacy Wins Laurels With Clean 8-0 Slate

Lacy clinched the 1959 Softball division playground championship recently by going undefeated through eight games. This was the first time in past few years that Lacy has held championship honors.

Fred Biech and "Harpo" were team coaches. Mulberry and Memorial were other teams in the League.

Lacy players and their records:

	AB	H	R	E	Avg
Jim Depto	23	14	1	6	.608
Mike Madigan	28	12	1	4	.423
John Martin	25	10	3	4	.400
Stew Punskey	18	7	0	3	.383

Ed Rickerson	20	7	1	3	.350
Dock Larson	24	8	0	3	.333
Bob Barney	20	5	0	2	.250

On the mound, Punskey had five wins and no losses; Barney 2 and 1; and Larson 1 and 2.

County Midget Crown Rests on North Penn

North Penn closed out Weldon and Son 8 to 0 on Wilder Field Tuesday evening, to take Midget division, County Hot Stove League championship.

Last evening's game was the second of a three-game playoff series for the title. North Penn won the first game Saturday in another shutout, 10-0.

Ristau pitched for North Penn, winning over Persing for Weldon. Receivers were Saylor and Bouchard, respectively. Ristau allowed one hit to the losers. North Penn took six off Persing.

Barner, Saylor and Gerarde clubbed triples for winners.

North Penn recently won Eastern division County honors, making them eligible to enter playoff for the crown.

DROWNS IN POND
BELLE VERNON, Pa. (AP). — The body of Ronald Rinkoff, 22, has been recovered from a pond on his family farm near Belle Vernon.

Golfers Set Shots At Hole-in-One

With confidence in their golfing ability, several linksmen will be driving away for a hole-in-one at Starbrick tonight.

Today opened the five-day Golf Tee Driving Range Hole-in-One play at the Starbrick range. Golfers were trying for a $50 government bond prize; $27.50 golf bag and a dozen top-grade balls.

Those prizes will be awarded in that order for closest to the pin.

Well-hit balls should hold on the newly-seeded green which Willard Zerbe and Dale Bean have watered often this week.

John Smith, other owner of the Driving Range, said an amateur who is in the 90 to 100 bracket usually wins such an event.

This week's Hole-in-One tourney is the last one of the season. Hours are from 6 p. m. to 11 p. m. today, tomorrow and Friday, and from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m. Saturday and Sunday.

Senior Horse Show At Y-Bar-U Field Scheduled Sunday

A top attraction of Y-Bar-U Saddle Club will be their Senior Horse Show on their field Sunday at 1 p. m.

The second annual event will be staged on the Warren-Scandia show field, featuring 14 events.

Y-Bar-U has had several horse shows this year, but Sunday's program is for senior members, run entirely by junior members.

This was started last year to allow the junior members to obtain experience in completely handling a horse show from judging, timing, announcing and handling of food tent, etc., a club member explained.

Addie Beltz is chairman for the show and Sonny Carlson co-chairman. Junior members are horse riders 16 years of age and under.

Y-Bar-U also annually holds a game show for the junior members.

An exciting afternoon is promised by the committee in charge of Sunday's show. With 14 events, everyone is sure to be pleased and satisfied with contestants and horses' performances.

They're Talking About Series in San Francisco

By ALAN CLINE
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP). — Playing a World Series in Candlestick Stadium — if the Giants win the National League Pennant — could be much more than a West Coast first. It could be one of the goofiest.

There'll be a backdrop, foul line poles and players lockers.

But the 11-million-dollar ball park on San Francisco Bay won't be completed. The public address system probably will be a mobile job. It may be a major project to get a bag of peanuts or a beer.

There may be little if any system to the parking and it may take patience and time to get to your seat. Don't expect outfield signs giving fence distances.

Poles from which to fly the American flag and the major league team pennants probably will be missing.

Nearly everyone connected with the San Francisco Giants new home concedes the field will be playable for the Series third game on Oct. 2 should the league leaders win the pennant. The American League champ hosts the first two games.

Contractor Charles Harney figures he'll have 38,000 seats in. The Giants now play in 23,000-seat Seals Stadium, smallest in the majors.

Pirates Scheduled To Meet Cards Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP). — The hot and cold Pittsburgh Pirates get a golden opportunity to pad their fourth place grip in the National League race tonight at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Buccs, back on the winning trail after a fatal road trip, settle two decisions with the Cardinals — one a regular game, the other a suspended contest.

Bullpen ace Roy Face will try to save a 5-4 victory for George Wirt by getting the final two outs of a game hanging since July 12.

In the regular contest, Vern Law (13-7) will pitch for Pittsburgh against Bob Gibson (1-1).

The Pirates, winners of four out of five since they came back to Forbes Field, hold a one-game lead over the Chicago Cubs for fourth place.

Dempsey Hired To Help Promote Next Heavyweight Fight

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP). — An old-time promoter was back in the fight game today to help solve some of the confusion surrounding the heavyweight championship.

Jack Dempsey, now 64, was hired Tuesday as promotional director and adviser to the embattled Rosensohn Enterprises which still hopes to stage a return world heavyweight championship bout.

JACK DEMPSEY

between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson on Sept. 22. Johansson won the title from Patterson last June 26.

Dempsey has been out of the promoting dog for a long time but he had a couple of good ones in his day. His last one was the Max Baer-Max Schmeling bout in 1933. A couple of years before that he handled the Baer-Paulino Uzcudun battle in Reno.

And, of course, Dempsey had some experience in the ring. This is a salaried post for the ex-heavyweight champion and he emphasized that he has no stock in the corporation.

The company had its promoter's license suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission because of "statements" made by Bill Rosensohn, ex-head of Rosensohn Enterprises in a magazine article.

"I am prepared to go anywhere in the world to help the fight," said Dempsey. "I may fly to Sweden next week to talk to Johansson."

Aerial Observer Says Most of Mountain Moved

BUTTE, Mont. (U-P)—A mountain blasted by an earthquake "looked like someone took a big scoop out of it from top to bottom," an aerial observer says.

H. A. Frank of Butte flew over the quake area Tuesday. "At least a third of the mountain was moved. I never saw anything like it in my life, it is about a mile square," he said.

The scooped-out part of the mountain crashed across the canyon with such force that it was piled higher at the far side than near the mountain.

Frank said he saw a number of other slides. He said one was 450 yards wide. It turned the upper part of Cliff Lake into solid mud.

Republicans Name Goldstein for Assembly; Rice Chairman

At a meeting held last evening at the Y.W.C.A. activities building highlighted by a most harmonious atmosphere the Warren County Republican Committee called in special session to fill vacancies caused by the recent passing of Allen M. Gibson, elected Attorney Joseph H. Goldstein, former district attorney, to be the party's candidate for the General Assembly seat held by Mr. Gibson in the November election, and selected Burgess W. E. Rice as Chairman.

The session was called to order by Vice Chairman Sunny Lucia, who has been carrying on as titular head of the Committee since the death of Mr. Gibson. After invocation by Justice of the Peace Fred Berry, of Starbrick, special guests were introduced, including State Committee member W. Scott Calderwood; E. H. Ley, treasurer; Ralph E. Sires, secretary; Frank Perrin, finance chairman, and Mrs. Betty Rice, president of the Warren County Republican Women's Council.

Attorney Samuel Bonavita, who had been mentioned as a possible candidate for Chairman, in a statement read by Miss Lucia, expressed a wish that his name not be proposed for the post. He was later designated by the Vice Chairman as legal adviser and proceeded to explain the situation regarding the tenth ward committee vacancy. This was filled, following the election of Mr. Rice as chairman by the appointment of R. L. Ritchie, who was a worker in the Fifth Ward before it was divided some months ago.

Gerould Ostergard and Richard Huber were appointed as tellers for the election. The name of W. E. Rice was placed in nomination, seconded by several members. The secretary was requested to cast the ballot, and the announcement was roundly applauded.

Three names were placed in nomination for Republican candidate for Assembly: Attorney Joseph H. Goldstein, Attorney John H. Stewart and Emmory R. Jones. The first ballot resulted in a tie of 18 votes each between Stewart and Goldstein, with Jones receiving 12 votes;

"This is a Republican tax, inaugurated by the Republicans, advocated by the Republicans. This 4 per cent tax is the brainchild—I might say the illegitimate child—of the Republican Party."

Barr, long an aide to Gov. Lawrence, has the problem of meeting up to the Republican ultimatum that 22 Democratic votes must be delivered for the 4 per cent plan.

In addition to the three outright opponents, he still must persuade two other democrats—Sens. Harry E. Seyler (York) and Hugh J. McMenamin (Lackawanna)—to get off the fence.

Other legislative developments: GASOLINE TAX—The House Tuesday night passed, 108-87, the administration plan to increase the five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to six cents.

HOTEL ROOM TAX—A 112-81 vote in the House saw passage of another administration program to increase the 3½ per cent hotel room tax to 4 per cent. It went to the Senate for expected approval.

GRADUATED INCOME TAX—In a surprise move, the House agreed to a revised version of a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize a graduated income tax of up to 6 per cent.

SEIDROW TAPROOMS—The House voted, 151-41, to ban sidewalk taprooms in Pennsylvania in the future. The legislation, previously passed by the Senate, went to the governor's desk.

SCHOOL AID—The Senate received a plan to increase state aid for schools by 100 million dollars in the next two years.

Pre-Dawn Burglars in Toils

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS—Three pre-dawn burglars were captured early today following a robbery of an area gas station. Above is the get-away car, with stolen cigarette machine, in which three Warren men were caught while rifling for coins from the machine near Hearts Content sometime after the 12:50 a. m. break-in. Timesphoto Shattuck

State Police today were questioning three Warren youths with possible connection with the rash of petty burglaries in recent months.

Quick action by State, Warren borough, township police and Sheriff's office, apprehended the three culprits shortly after they victimized the Keystone gas station at Pleasant Township at 12:50 a. m. this morning.

Robbers were identified as Charles Thomas, 23, of RD 2, owner of the get-away car; George Thomas, 24, of 22 Water street, not brothers; and Richard Hennessy, 23, who gave his address as 135½ Chandler St., Jamestown, but is a Warren youth, police said.

Officer Robert Schmauder of Warren police dept., who lives near the Keystone Station, located at Armstrong Drive and Main ave., extension, was on his way home when his attention was drawn to the trio entering the station from the rear.

Schmauder gave chase to the men after they lifted the overhead door in front of the station and loaded the cigarette machine into their car. The local off-duty policeman pursued the fleeing car as far as the Warren Observatory on Legislative Rte 337 near Hearts Content.

Schmauder called to his brother-in-law to call police when he started to chase the fleeing bandits.

When State Police barracks received the call, word was relayed to borough department, the sheriff's chief deputy, Don Allen, and Clayton Rhoades of Conewango Twp. police.

State Police found the trio parked near Watson Grange, in the vicinity of the radar station on Rte. 337.

It is probable that operator of the car will lose his driving privilege. Under State law, using a car in a crime is cause for revocation of license.

Thomas and Hennessy will be arraigned on burglary charges, possibly some time today. State Police said other burglaries in Warren and vicinity in recent months may be cleared up with further investigation.

The storm washed out major highways, destroyed bridges, stranded hundreds of motorists, flooded Needles stores, ripped up railroad tracks and endangered isolated hamlets.

A young Ohio driver was arrested by borough police after he caused an accident with damages running up to $2,200 and injuring two women last evening.

Ray Ferrante, 16, of Euclid, Ohio, was cited for reckless driving. The car he was operating at 11:41 p. m. Tuesday, came out of Pine street at a high rate of speed and hit an auto driven by Mary Tipton of Tidouet, who was traveling on Pennsylvania avenue.

The Tipton car went out of control, hit a concrete street marker and clipped the stairs and porch at 1213 Pennsylvania avenue west. After hitting the Tipton car, the Ohio youth's machine went east on Pennsylvania avenue, coming to a stop against a large tree.

Mrs. Tipton sustained multiple cuts about the face. A passenger, Theresa Vigio of 1805 Pennsylvania avenue west, multiple bruises on right arm and left leg.

Damages were totaled at $200 to the car driven by Ferrante, $1,500 to the Tipton vehicle and $500 to the house.

along the Madison River. It flows from Yellowstone Park westward, then northward to join the Jefferson and Gallatin rivers at Three Forks, Mont., to form the Missouri River.

The dam on the river forms a lake holding about 337,000 acre-feet of water.

A 10-year-old boy, Robert Bennett of Cottonwood, Ariz., told reporters he and his family saw a car containing a crippled boy, a man and woman buried by a slide 50 feet from the Bennett car. It could not be determined if the three escaped.

At one time Tuesday night the death toll was given by officials as 19, then was revised downward by Montana's civil defense director, Hugh Potter.

But sheriff's officers near the quake-stricken area said others might have been carried to their deaths beneath slides.

Jeep, boat and helicopter were used to rescue an undetermined number of persons reported marooned by the slides in the Madison River valley.

At one time 150 were reported trapped below Hebgen Dam, but many reached safety by Tuesday night.

The dam took a severe pounding from the mighty shocks. For a time officials feared it might go out, unleashing a flood down the canyon.

Montana Power Co. officials said one abutment of the 87-foot-high Hebgen Dam was jarred loose by the quake, but it still held.

The quakes tilted land behind the dam, raising the south shore from 6 to 15 feet and dropping the north shore by the same amount.

There was some concern because a high earth barrier was created by a slide back of the dam. Waters of the reservoir rose high against the barrier as men with bulldozers battled to clear a channel through the packed earth and rocks.

Postoffice Gives Advice on First Day Stamp Covers

Titusville Herald: Here is some advice from the Titusville postoffice to persons not familiar with stamp collecting about submitting first day covers.

1. Print your name and address, or the name and address of the person to whom you wish to send the cachet, very low on the envelope. On the official cachets being sold by the Col. Drake Philatelic Society, the top line of the address should be on a level with the words, "Official Cachet."
2. Put a thin piece of cardboard the size of the envelope and the thickness of a postal card inside the envelope. This results in a better impression of the cancellation.
3. Don't seal the envelope. The person receiving the cachet might run the cancellation or stamp in tearing open the envelope. Simply fold the flap inside the envelope.

Postal officials emphasized that the address should be placed as close to the bottom of the envelope as possible. The petroleum industry centennial four-cent stamp is a vertical one, which will take a considerable space on the envelope.

Hand cancellations also take up much space, since the "device", or reproduction of the Drake Well is directly below the postmark.

Some persons have addressed their cachets too high, which spoils the effectiveness of the cancellation, a postoffice official said.

The Titusville postoffice already has received well over 40,000 first day covers. The postal spokesman said that by this time next week he anticipates over 140,000 will have been received.

The postoffice also announced that the commemorative four-cent stamp honoring the Centennial of Oil will be brown in color. The first day issue will be at Titusville on Thursday, Aug. 27—the 100th anniversary of the drilling of the world's first oil well by Col. Edwin L. Drake.

CARRIER EXPLOSION
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Two sailors were killed and about 20 others injured Tuesday in an explosion aboard the aircraft carrier USS Wasp 250 miles east of here.

A Navy spokesman here said a fire was started in a hangar bay when the engine of a helicopter exploded.

One man was killed outright.
